With soaring spirits

And uplifted faces

We made a new beginning.

Anxious and eager,

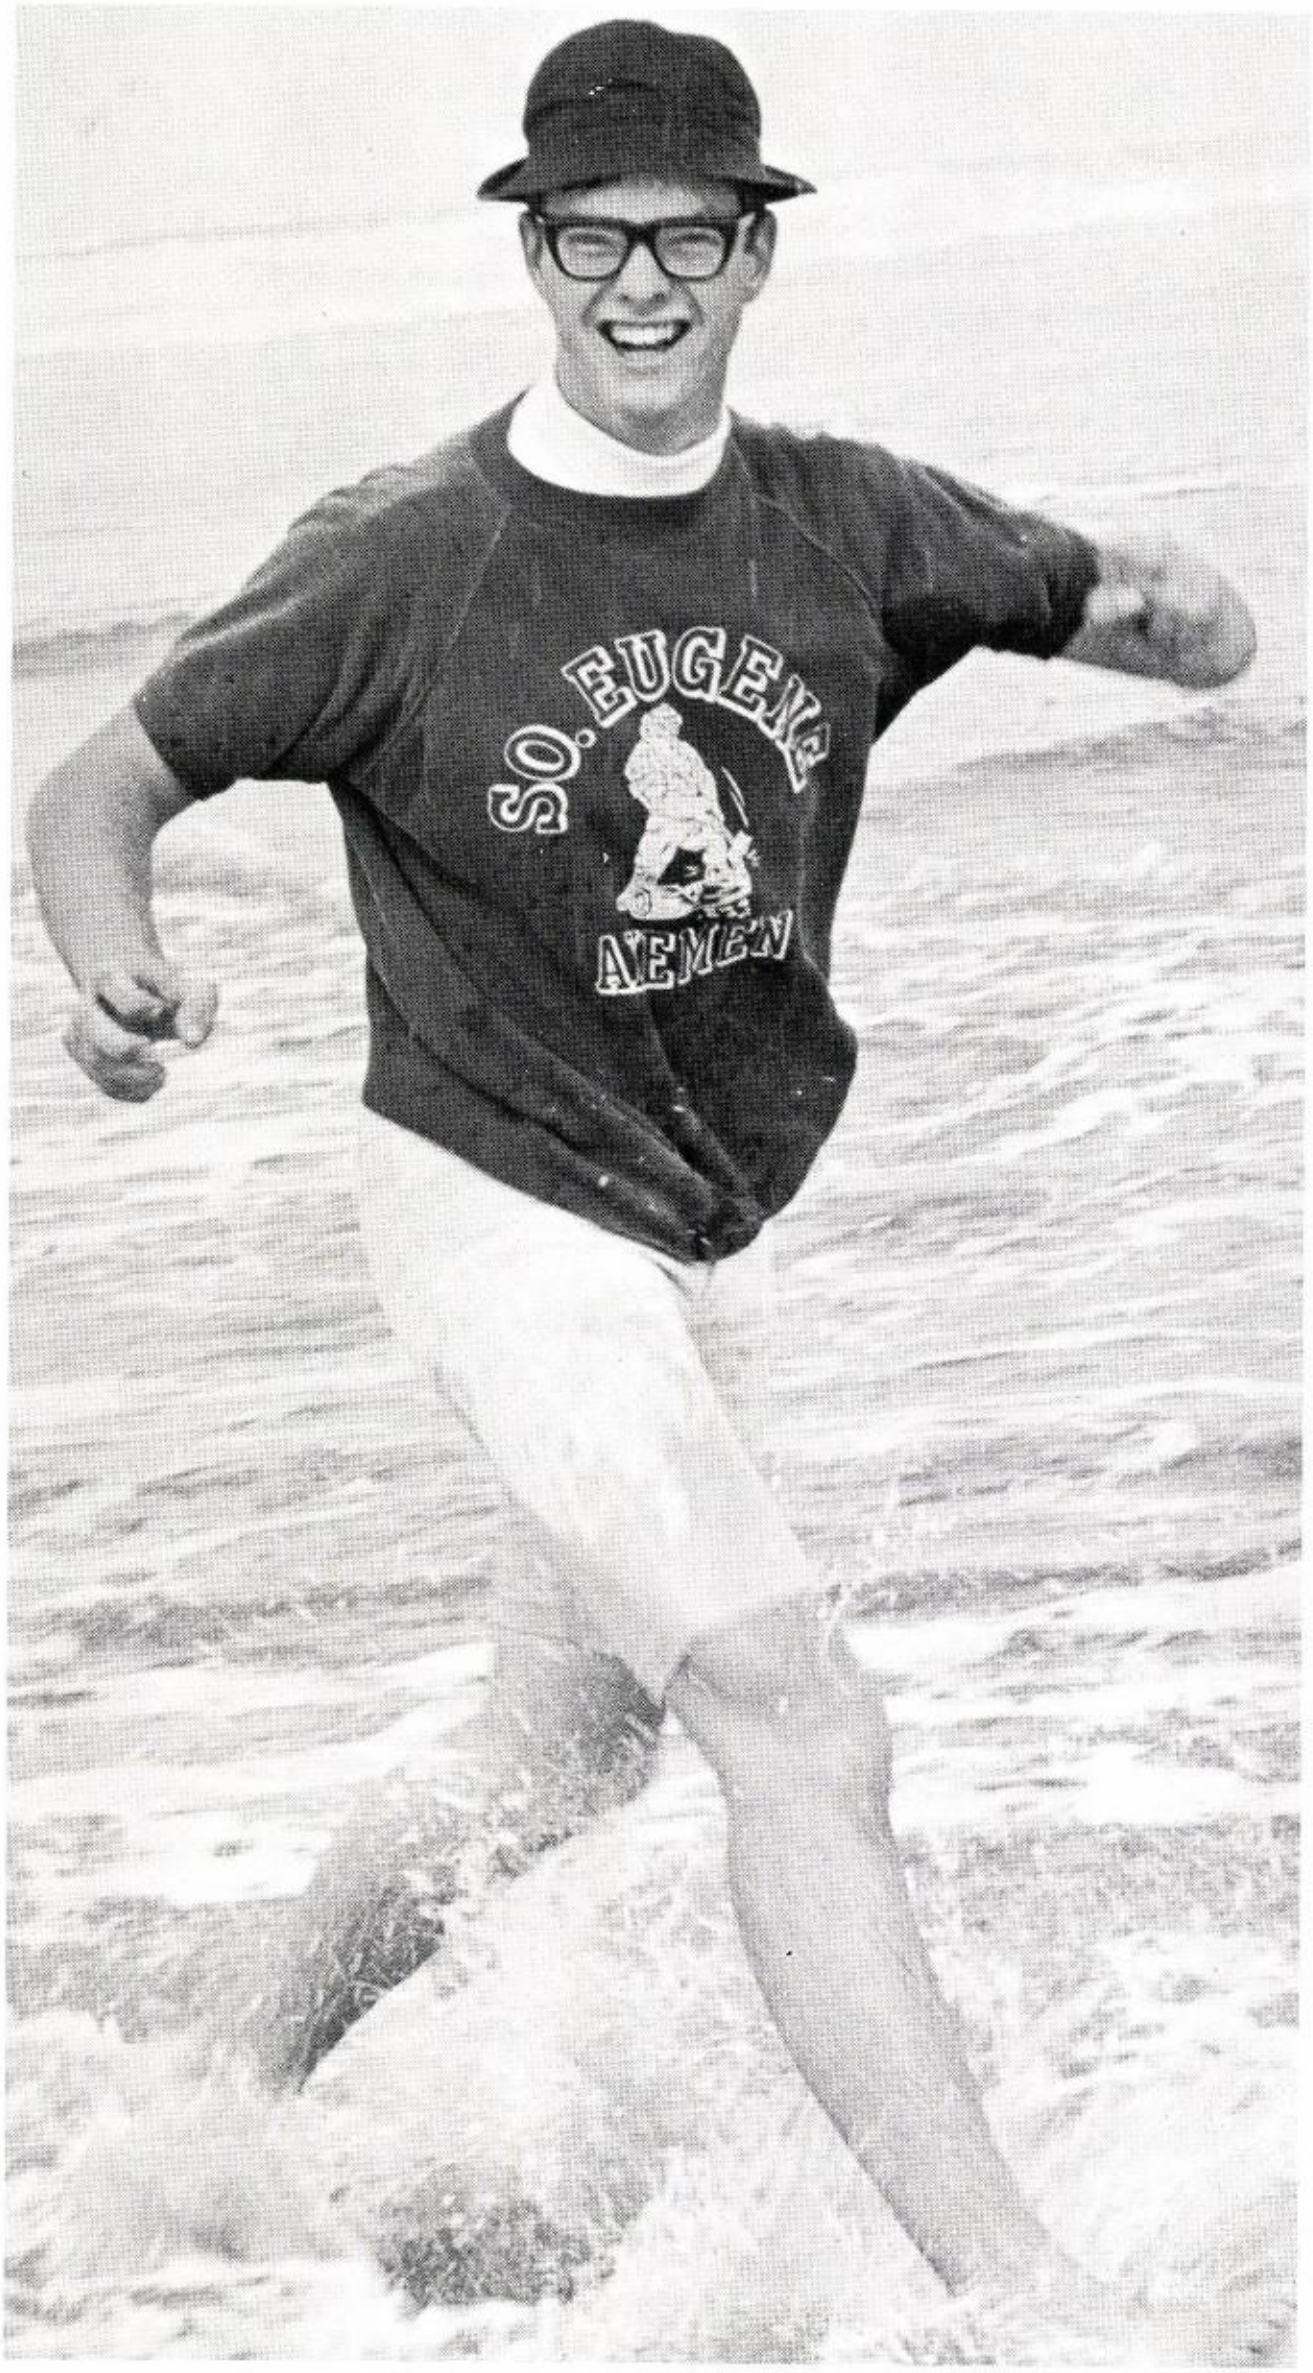
Full of hope and confidence,

We soon learned

Success is a way of thinking.

It lives not only in a triumph

But in every attempt.



SO. EUGENE

From each new experience

We gathered unforgettable memories,

Exciting coast parties,

Hysterical bus trips,

Thrilling games.

Memories on which to build.

Memories the same . . .

Yet different.

We were swept up

And carried along

By the current fads.

We lived in our own world,

A world of color, motion,

Enthusiasm, and delight.

We explored new horizons,

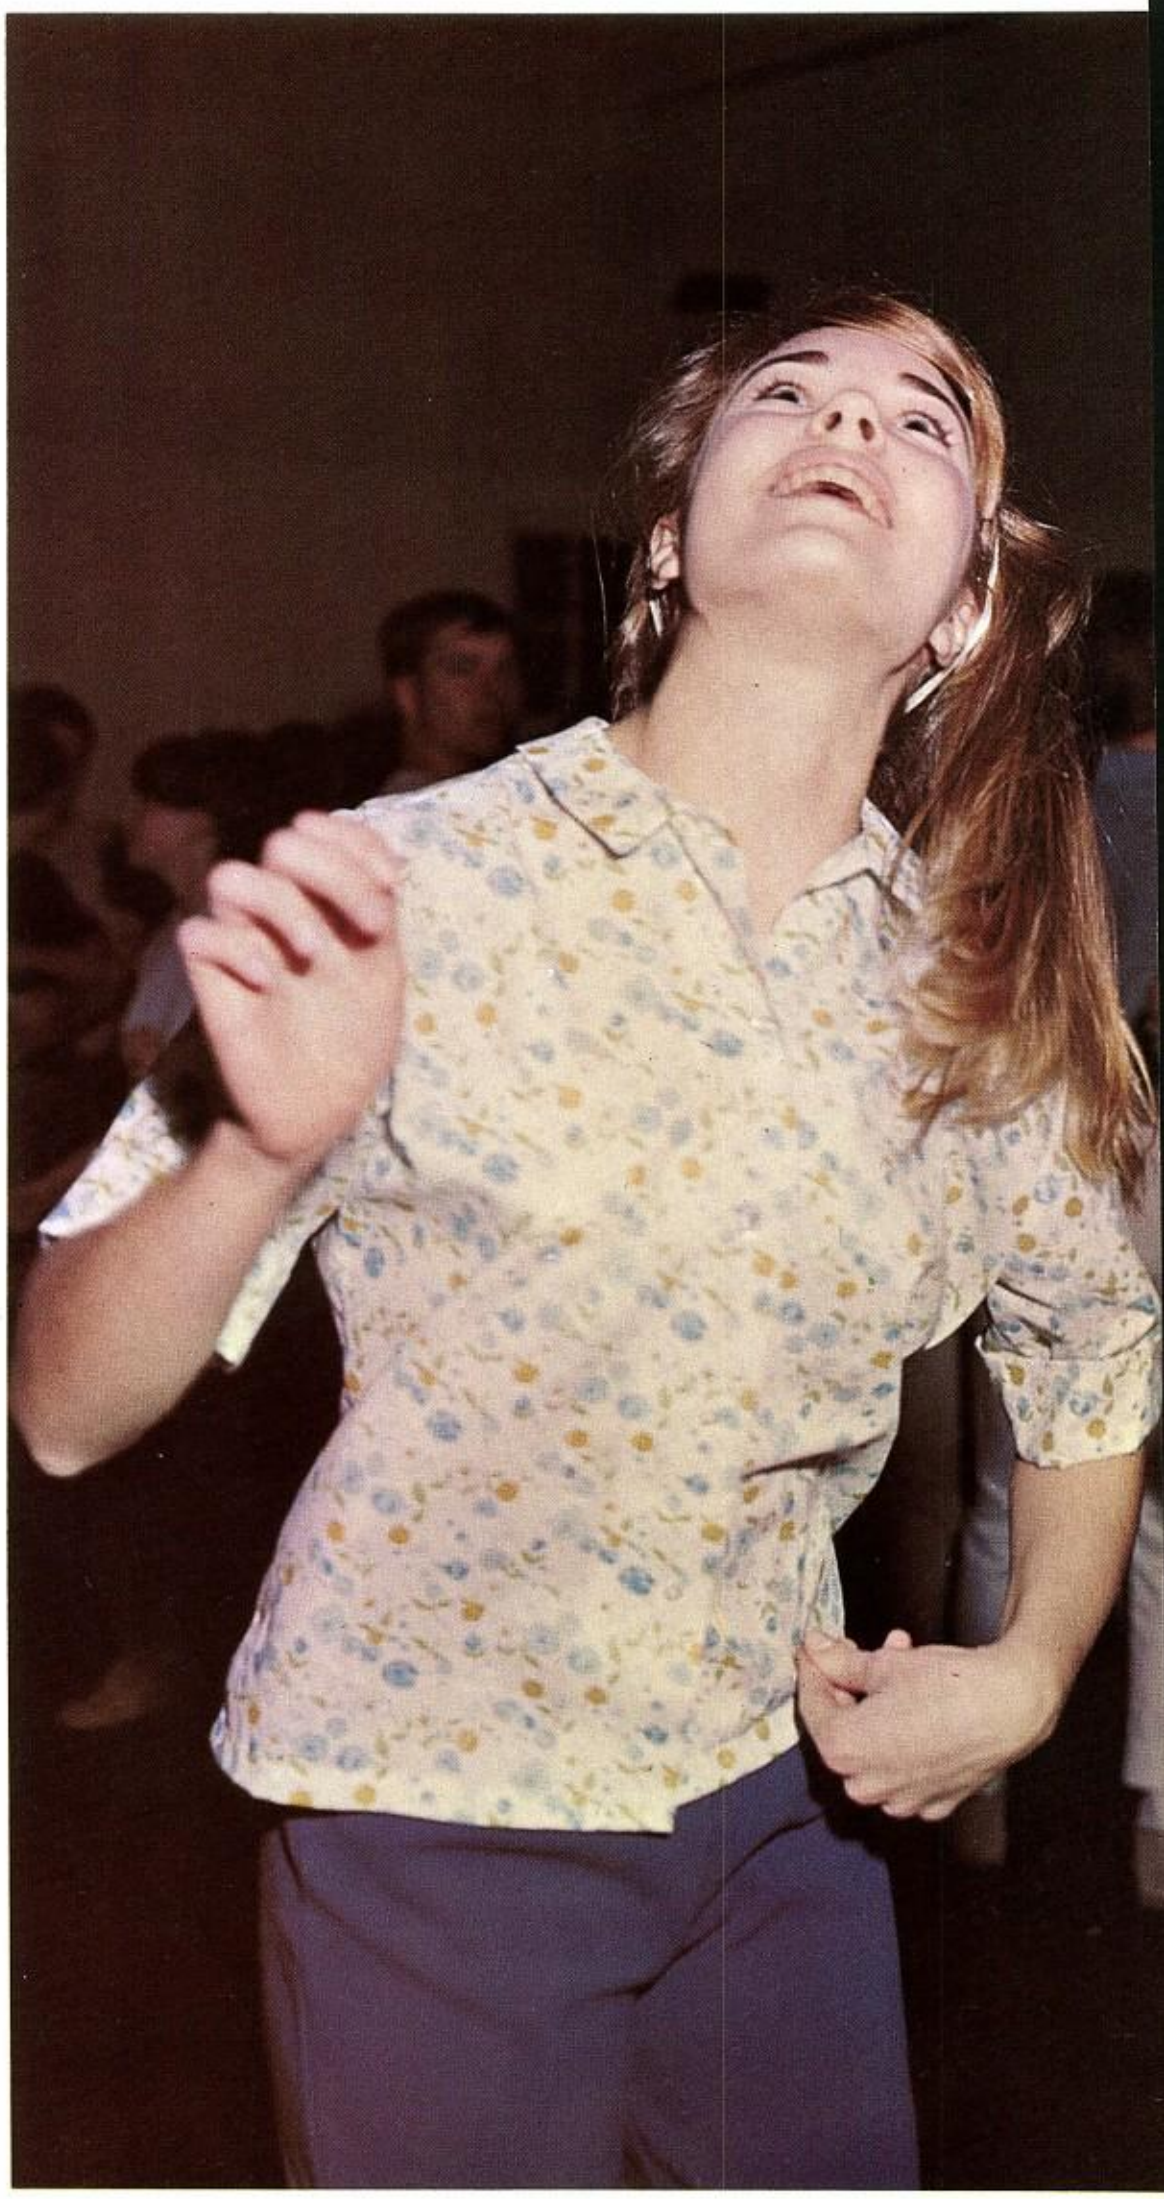
Discovering

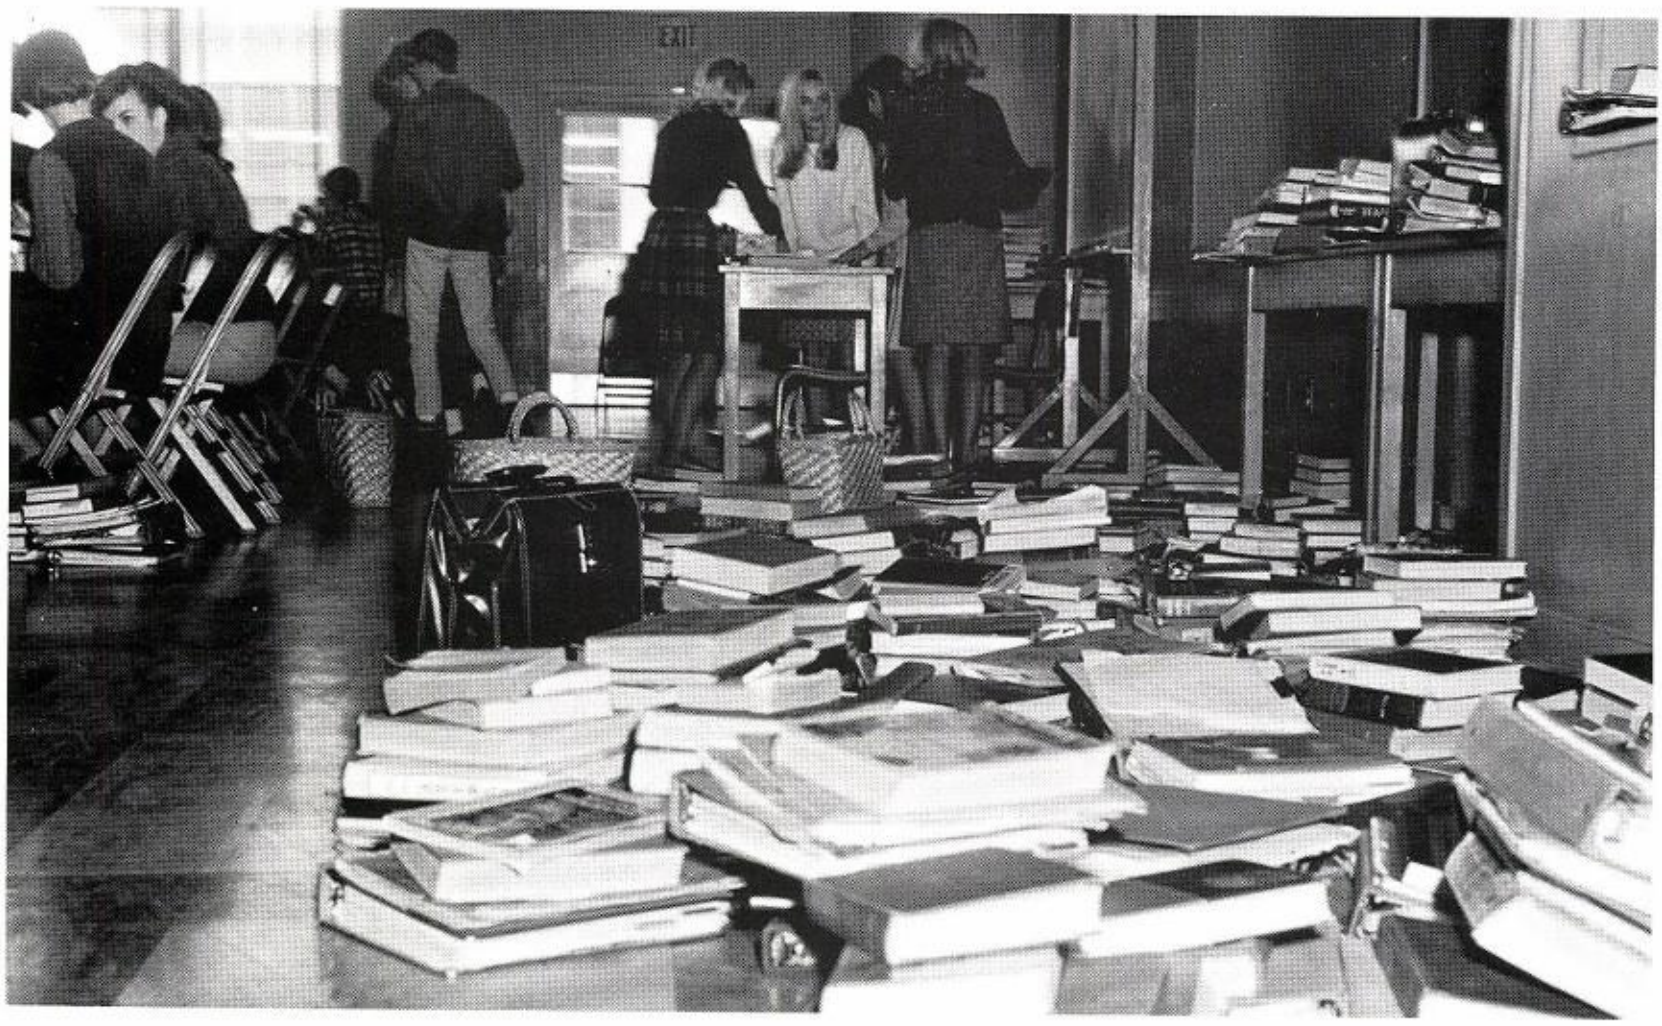
The intricacies of life.

Perhaps we alone understood

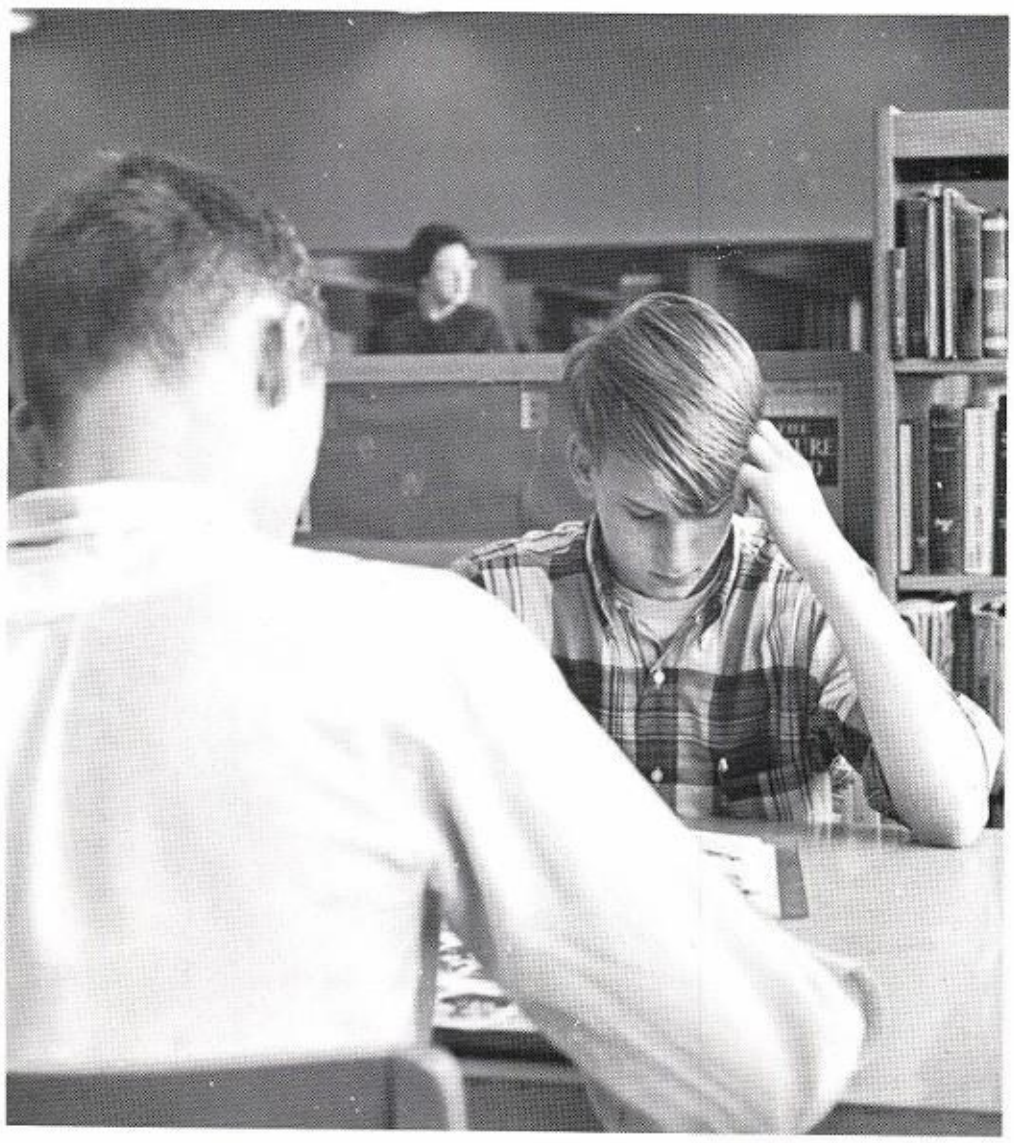
Our world.

Perhaps no one did.





EXIT



Time hustled on.

Day after day

We did common things

That took little thought or inspiration.

Yet a restlessness, stirring within us,

Kept us out of a groove.

In our constant activities

We merged the common with the unique.

And many,

Exhausted from the rapid pace,

Lapsed willingly into the Relief and security of the ordinary.

We found nothing stood still.

Life was dynamic,

And a passive existence

Yielded few rewards.

We met each challenge,

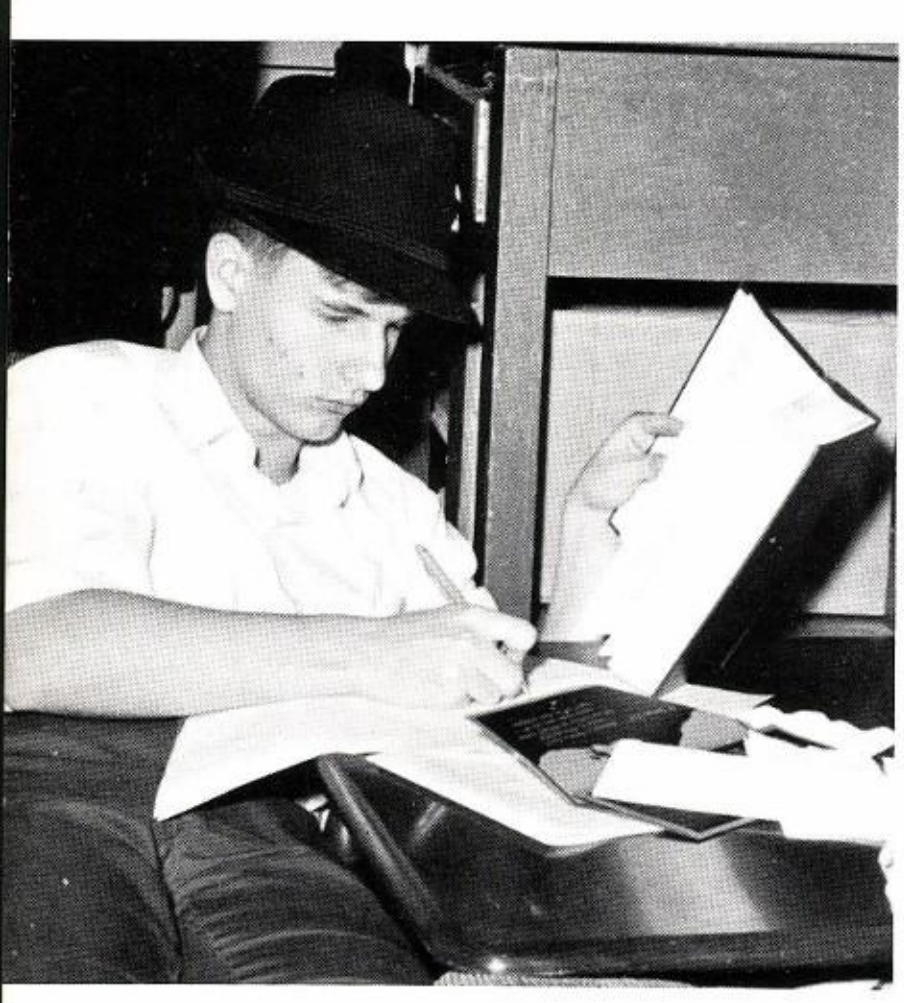
Gaining stamina and building character.

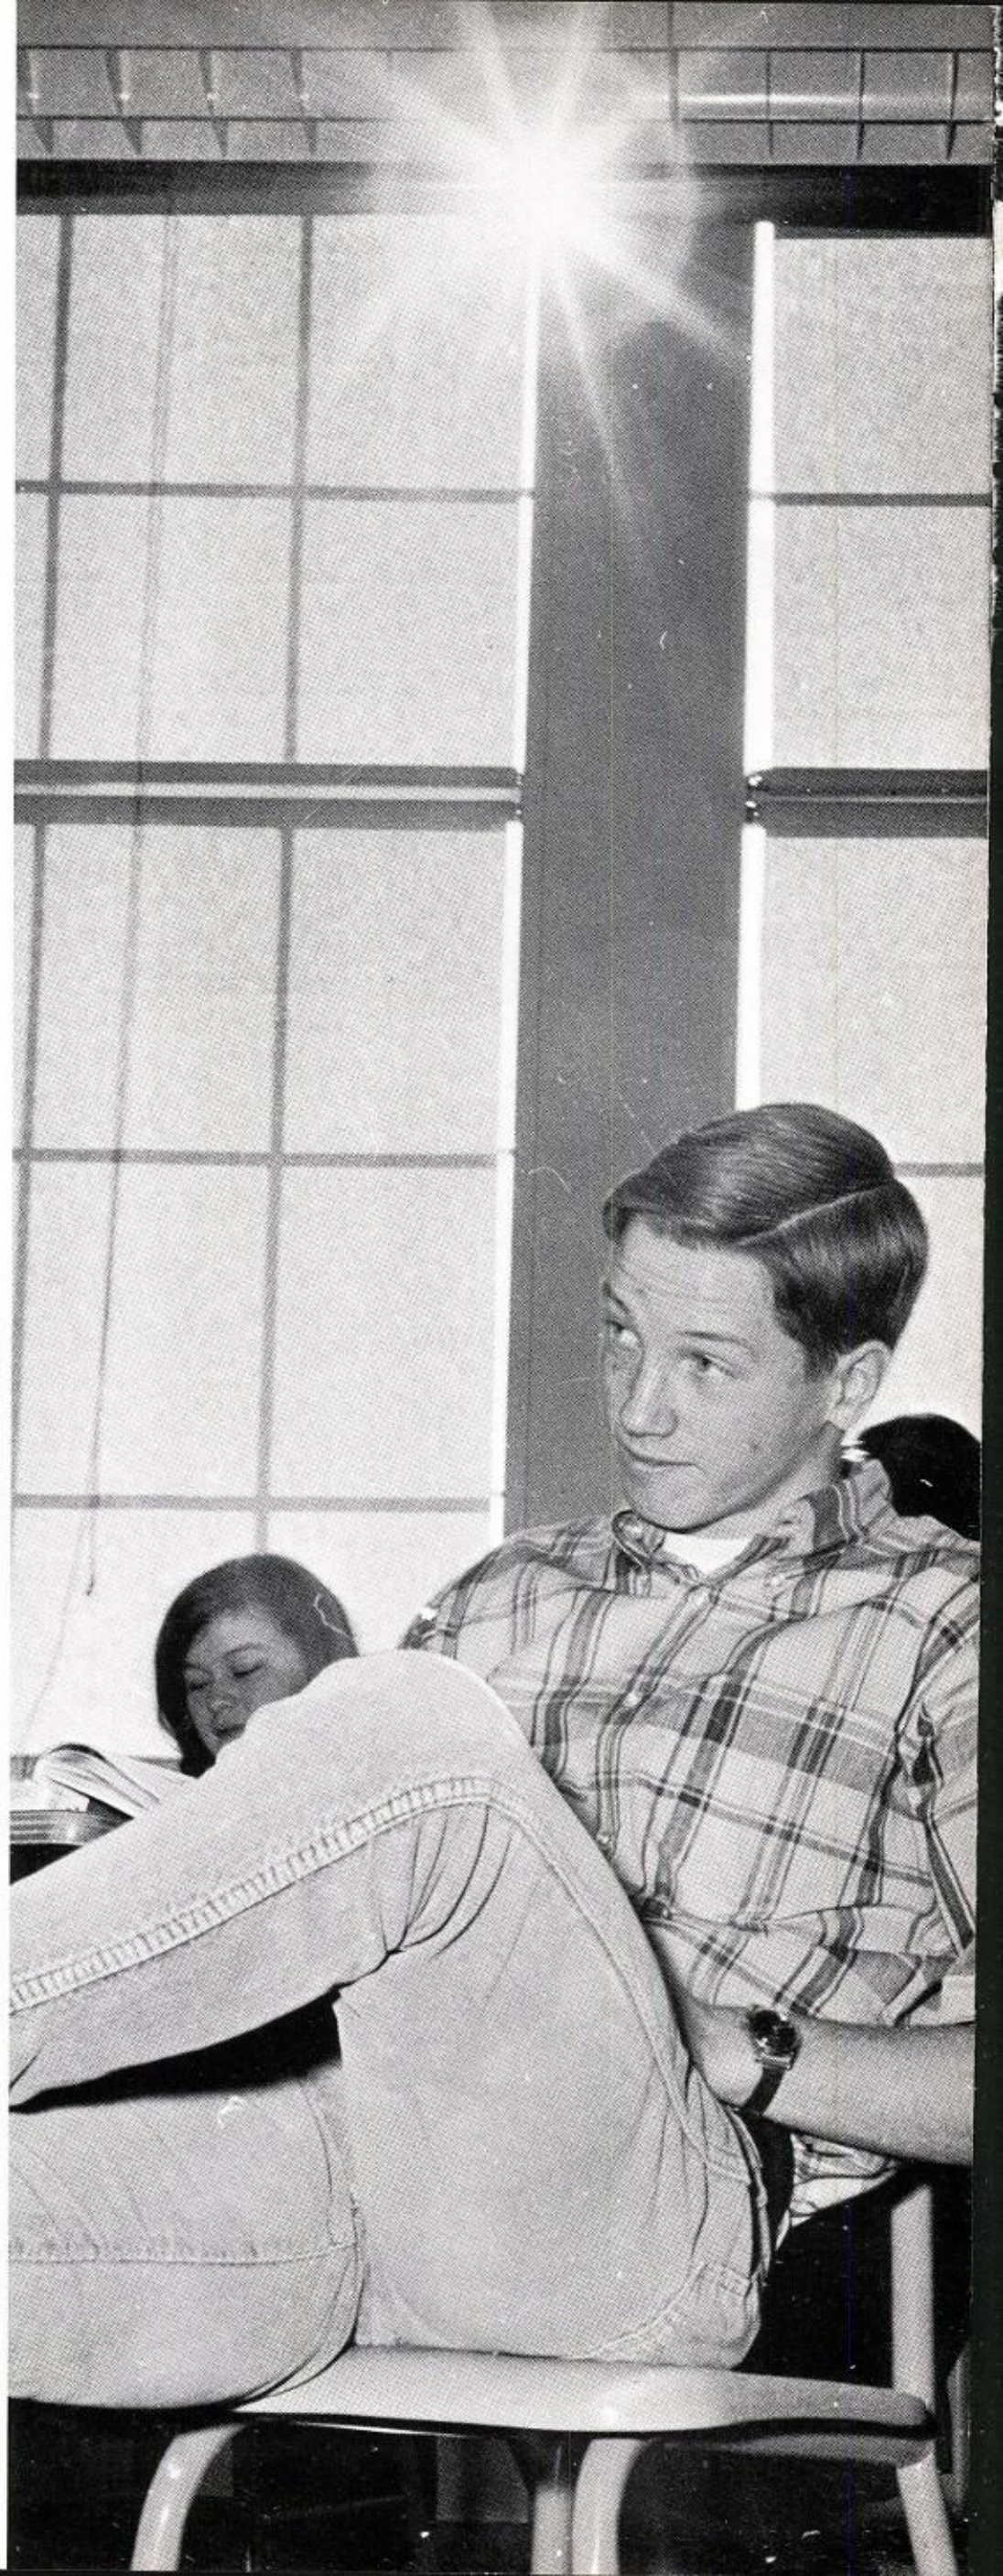
Our skills were sharpened

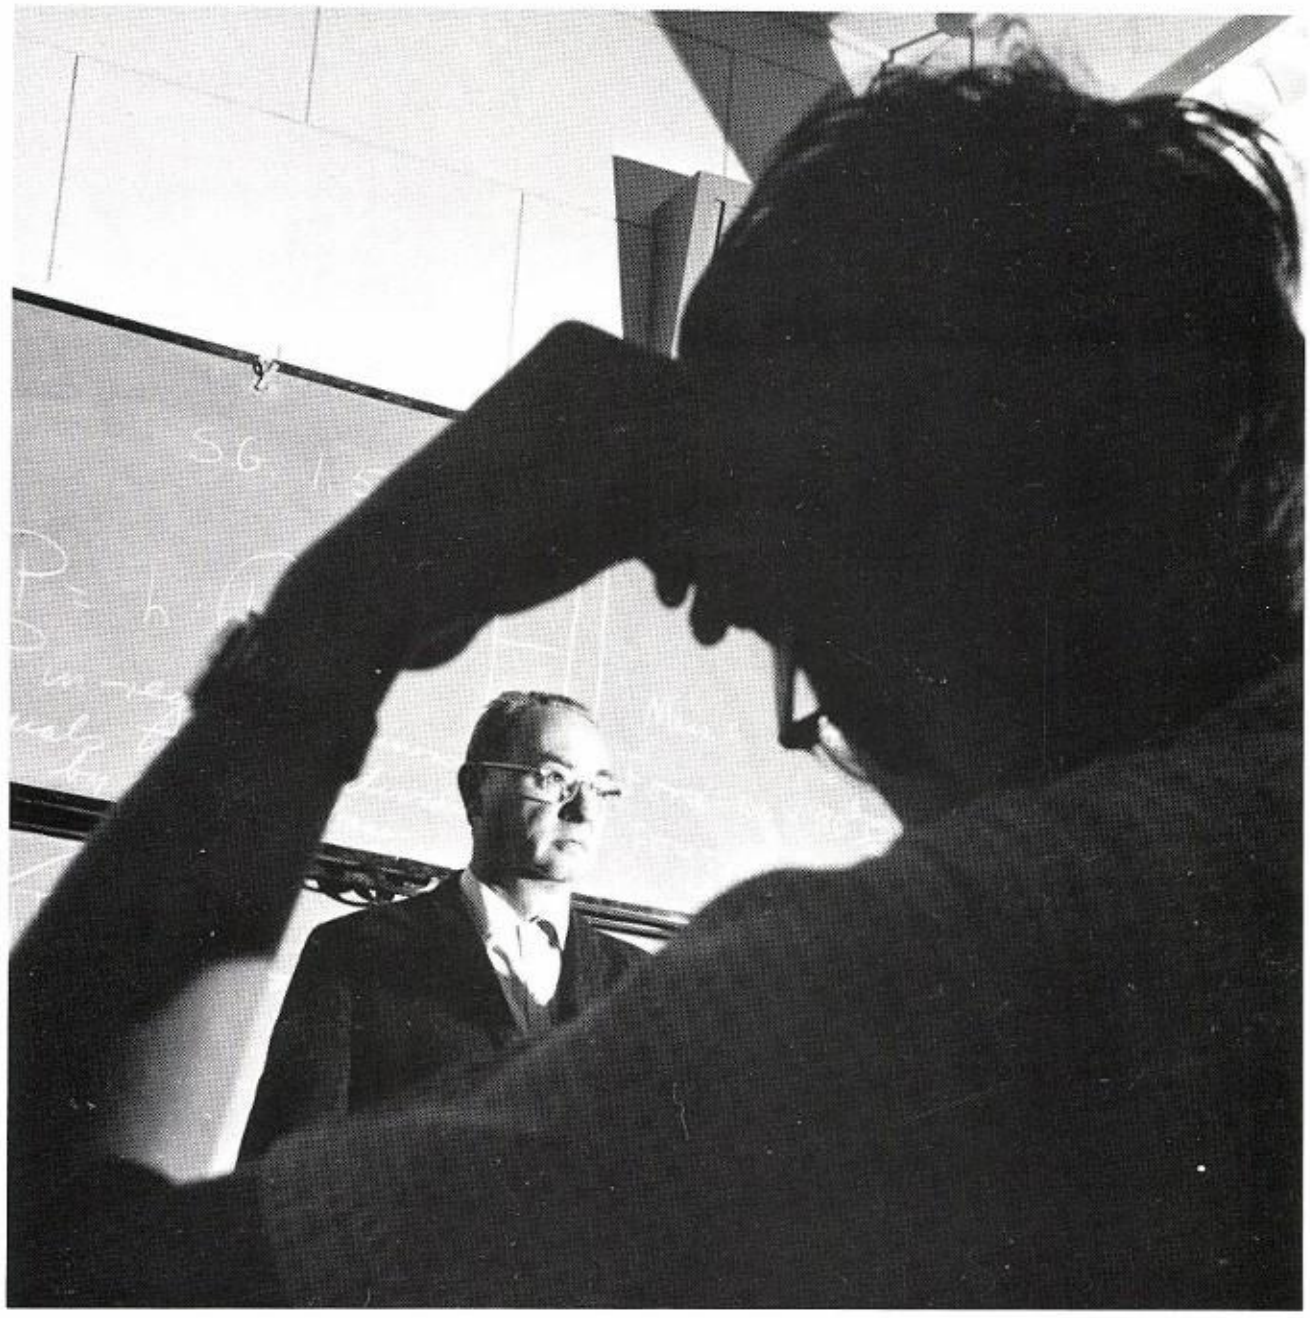
Through precision and perfection.

We discovered learning is doing,

And doing is life.







Inquiring minds

Grasped impatiently for knowledge.

There was wonder,

Confusion,

Comprehension.

Amid endless questions and problems

We learned how little we knew,

And realized that

During our lifetime

Learning would never cease.

Teachers,

Bless their loving hearts,

Are sometimes wonderful,

Sometimes great,

Sometimes a problem.

But where would we be Without them?

They counsel, listen,

React, stimulate.

Some electrify us

With enthusiasm;

Others produce

A contagious desire to learn.

They are more than teachers,

They are partners

In knowledge.

SOCIAL SCIENCE

People to People

With emphasis on human relations in society as well as in international affairs, the social science department, headed by Dr. Mildred Williams, sought to acquaint students with problems in the world today and possible solutions. A one semester course in General Psychology was added this year, supplementing the regular offerings of World History, Modern Problems, United States and European History, Economics, and International Relations.

More than forty students earned possible college credit by receiving satisfactory scores on the Advanced Placement tests in United States and European History. Many students completed their requirements in social science by taking courses in Modern Problems and United States History under the new tuition-free summer program. Next year a course will be offered in the history of the non-western world, the first of its kind in an Oregon high school.

ENGLISH

Syntax with Style

From Speech to Stagecraft, the English department, directed by Dr. Raymond Kehl, offered a wide variety of courses in addition to the required units. Working toward the goal of teaching students to use English capably, teachers placed emphasis on self-expression with attention to techniques of good writing.

Project English, developed at the University of Oregon and introduced to South last year, was planned to help each student become competent in English. To accomplish this, units in literature, rhetoric, and transformational grammar were taught. Project English will be increased in scope next year, with classes for juniors and seniors as well as sophomores.

Classes in Drama, Debate, Creative Writing, Journalism, Developmental Reading, and Humanities enriched the regular curricular offerings.

MUSIC

Strings, Symbols, and Songs

Pleasing sounds and a variety of performances came from the music department this year, under the direction of Robert Moblo, Nathan Cammack and Elbert Morton.

A Cappella Choir gave its first performance at the Flag Day Assembly in early September. In addition to singing at the Thanksgiving and Christmas assemblies, the choir provided entertainment at the charity banquet for the United Appeal drive during December at the YMCA. The girls' choir sang at the Thanksgiving assembly as well as the spring concert. Madrigals, a group of sixteen, sang songs mainly from the Elizabethan period. Members wore new costumes characteristic of that era when they performed for various community organizations.

The orchestra, along with the A Cappella Choir, presented the entire "Messiah" at the Christmas Concert on December 22. Music for South's dramatic production, "Dark of the Moon," and for the spring musical, "Oliver," was provided by the full orchestra. Junior and senior band, pep band, and the stage band, known as the Axe-i-dents, entertained at various functions including football and basketball games, the "Opus in Color" concert, and their spring performance, "Concert on the Green." In January the band, orchestra, and A Cappella toured Spencer Butte, Roosevelt, and Wilson junior high schools.

PUBLICATIONS

The Year in Print

Combining words with pictures to tell the story of the year was the task of both The Axe and Eugenean staffs, but the tasks were different. The Axe staff published a newspaper, averaging 10 pages every other Friday, while the Eugenean staff worked all year to record the year's happenings in a book designed to last a lifetime. The problems were many, but the fun of working together, the experience gained, and the satisfaction of a finished product were worth it all.

Through the dedicated efforts of the students and adviser, Mrs. Alyce Sheetz, the publications department maintained its high standards. The Eugenean was the only All-American and Medalist yearbook in Oregon for 1965, and The Axe received the Medalist award. Outstanding members of both staffs were elected to Quill and Scroll.

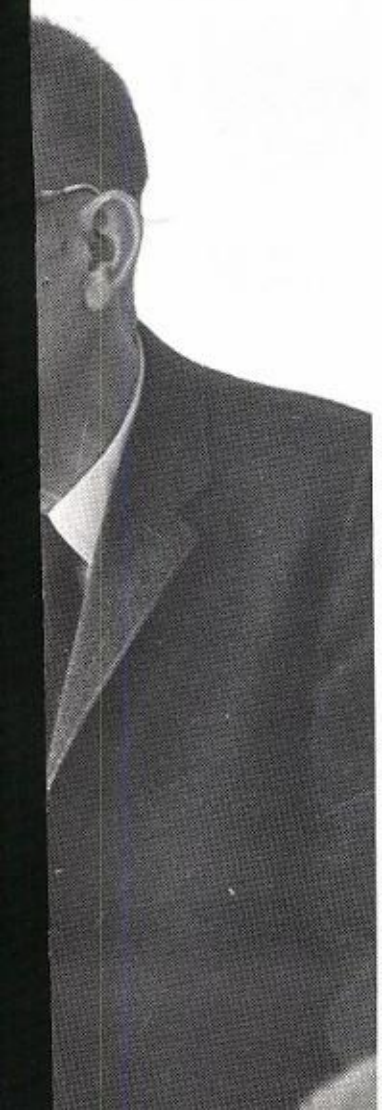
MATHEMATICS

Mental Magic

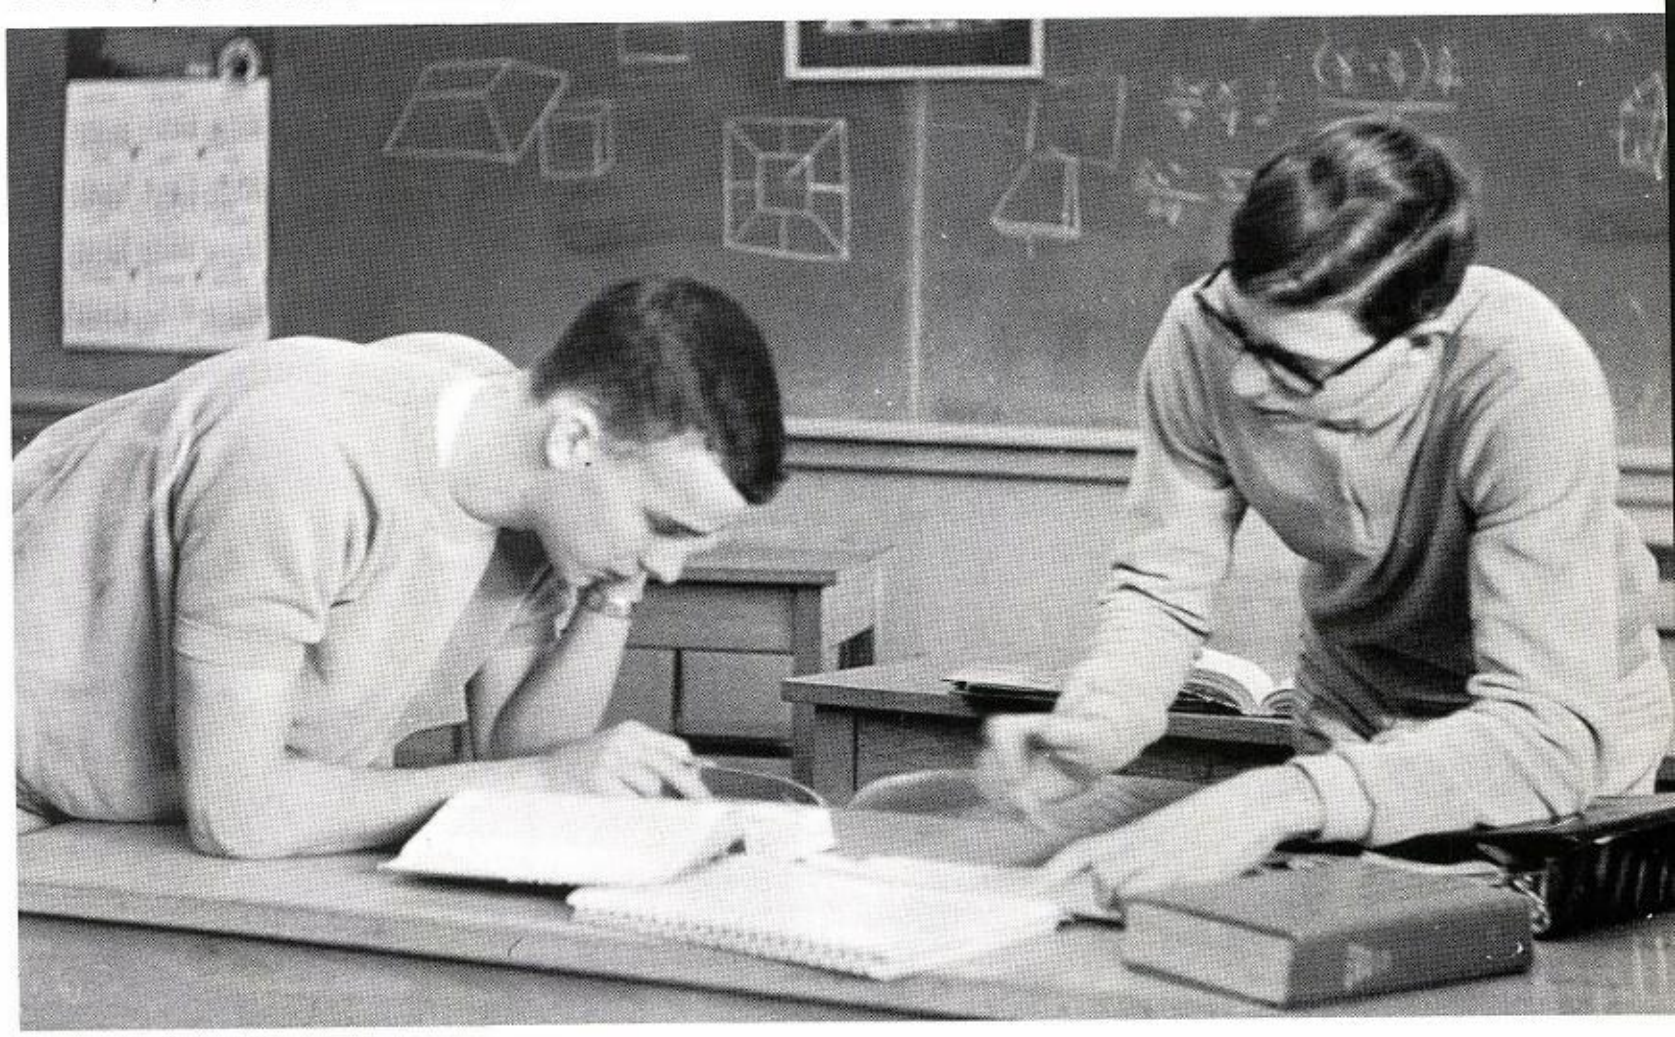
Learning how to work a mathematics problem is very important, but in the "New Math" approach, learning "why" the operations are performed is vital. Although students taking mathematics courses at South this year were not taught the "New Math" in grade school, the effects of the program were evident. Students were not content merely to learn the formula used to arrive at an answer. They constantly sought explanations for the processes and reasoning behind the formulas.

Dr. Oscar Schaaf, head of the department, led math study seminars, organized to assist students reviewing for the College Entrance Examination Board. Over 100 students attended these sessions which included reviewing all the disciplines of mathematics. During the year, Dr. Schaaf served as vice-president of the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics.

In April, word was received that South Eugene placed fourth in Oregon in the annual nationwide American Mathematics Association Secondary School Competition. This was the highest that South has ever placed. Highest scorer for two consecutive years was Robert Yood, followed this year by Chuck Cunningham and Mike Stronach.



Juniors Randy Robertson and Ron Brummond pour over difficult problem in after-school work session.



SCIENCE

Into the Unknown

Effects of new trends were felt in the science program. According to Dr. Dirk Ten Brinke, department head, "More changes have been made in the last five years than in the previous twenty-five." Equipment such as carts with roller skate wheels as well as books were part of the new programs which bore such unwieldy titles as Biological Science Curriculum Study Biology and Physical Science Study Committee Physics. Increased emphasis was given student observations and experimentation rather than memorization.

Close coordination of class and laboratory work with field trips gave the students opportunities to develop important concepts. Information was presented in a way that allowed students to use experimentation and graphical analysis as methods of learning. Results of experiments were used by students to draw suitable conclusions, which were revised and examined in class discussions.

New approaches were designed to give students more first hand experience with the variety of techniques utilized in science. Although techniques may seem to remain constant, rapid changes occur daily in the development of science.

DRIVER EDUCATION

Defensive Tactics

Started eight years ago at South, the driver education program aims to teach students techniques of safe driving to reduce the number of accidents. Department head Delbert Edwards, Dave Powell and Tom Means instructed 264 students during the year. Upon successful completion of the semester course, lower insurance rates were available to students.

Areas covered in lectures included the history of the car and its parts, law enforcement, traffic violations and car maintenance. An Oldsmobile F-85, and a Ford Galaxie were used, courtesy of Dunham Motors and Kendall Ford.

AGRICULTURE AND FORESTRY

The Good Earth

Geared to train students for agricultural vocations, the agriculture and forestry curriculum is continually being expanded as the interest in these fields increases.

This year a 14-acre land laboratory was established in the River Road area. Students had the chance to raise their own animals, plant trees, and to manage development of the land. Future plans for the area include grass experiment plots, a wildlife area, finishing a forestry arboretum, and developing a pasture rotation system.

Next year the major agriculture and forestry department will be transferred to Winston Churchill High School. Beginning classes, however, will still be taught at South. A work-study program for seniors will be initiated to offer students experience in a chosen area within this field.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE

Twisting the Tongue

Language is a barrier when not comprehended, but when mastered serves to further understanding between peoples. More than mere words, a language represents a culture. While beginning students worked mostly on pronunciation, grammar, parts of speech and spelling, the second and third year students studied the literature of the language and investigated the culture of the people.

As the world becomes smaller through transportation and communication, it was promising to see over 460 students at South learning a foreign language. Lab practice gave students a chance to hear themselves speak. While it often proved amusing, it also helped students correct their pronunciation.

Under the direction of Miss Abby Adams, department head, new materials were secured to start a library, invaluable to students preparing for Advanced Placement examinations.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Building for the Future

The roar of machinery and flying chips and sparks were the trademarks of the Industrial Arts program. Important hobby and career skills were developed in handling wood and metal. Besides work in the shop, regular class discussions and courses in architectural and technical drawing were offered. Students saw their ideas put into reality when they built wooden models of buildings they had designed on paper. Receiving training to enter a wide variety of professions, from carpentry to engineering, students gained knowledge that would benefit them throughout their lives.

ART AND CRAFTS

Palettes and Pinch Pots

As art is man's expression of his thoughts and feelings in visual form, the goal of the art department was to give students a chance to create and to discover for themselves, while becoming familiar with the principles of design. An art survey course was added to the curriculum, giving beginning students an overall view of the medium of art.

Students worked on a variety of projects. Painting, drawing, jewelry and pottery offered opportunities for self expression while arousing interest to experiment with new materials and ideas.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Fitness Factory

A daily program involving some 87 percent of the student body kept the girls' and boys' gym areas jumping with all sorts of activities designed to promote physical fitness and health. All students were required to take PE unless excused by the administration. All of the usual sports were scheduled, plus a new game—flickerball—something of a cross between basketball, football and hockey. It proved to be the most popular activity in the spring program.

BUSINESS EDUCATION

The IBM Boom

To keep up with the increasing use of IBM equipment, a one-semester course in Data Processing was initiated this year. Admittance depended upon a satisfactory score on a special aptitude test, and reasonable typing skill. Regular business education classes were also offered under the direction of George Petersen, department head.

Nine students participated in the Business Industry Seminar held April 23 in Portland. Guest speaker for the event was Tom McCall, secretary of state and candidate for governor, who discussed the present and future development of the region's important corporations. Delegates to the National Distributive Education Club of America conference in Chicago held April 27-30 were Jim Halford, Carolyn Peterson and Debi Virtue. With the cooperation of local business firms, Distributive Education students attended classes in the morning and worked in the afternoons for academic credit, supervised by Mrs. Alice Barnhart.

HOME ECONOMICS

Jams and Jellies

Smartly tailored suits, wild printed surfer jams, tangy sauces, tasty recipes and remodeled furniture were all products of the home economics department. Classes in sewing, cooking, and home furnishings, under the supervision of Mrs. Betty Wormington and Mrs. Anne Morris, allowed girls to make their own clothing, purchase and prepare foods, and refinish and re-upholster furniture.

In the spring, approximately 100 girls traveled to Oregon State University in Corvallis to visit the home economics department to better acquaint them with the department facilities and opportunities for the future.

"Tip Toe Through the Tulips" was the colorful Dutch theme for the spring style show held May 12. Seventy-five girls modeled outfits from bathing suits to formals. Nancy Ruch, outstanding home economics girl, received a sterling silver place setting. Certificates for the best dress, suit-coat, and formal were won by Trudy Johnson, Sally Bay and Linda Christensen, respectively.

LIBRARY, STUDY HALL

A Place to Work

A new student listening center was installed in the library at the end of the 1965-66 school year. It consists of two turntables and two tapedecks with 20 listening stations. Purpose of the center is to help students with their regular school work and also for recreation. Students in business classes, drama, speech and foreign language found the center especially beneficial for assignments, practice drills, improved diction and pronunciation. Included will be a permanent collection of tapes and records, including jazz, Broadway musicals, poetry, dramatic productions, and speeches. Tapes will also be available for lectures from visiting speakers, which can easily be erased and used again.

The library ordered over 1,200 new books during the year, more than were ordered last year. Money from President Johnson's Education Bill was used for the purchase of part of these books, plus new materials for the listening center and visual aid program. In addition to the library for research purposes, South has two study halls in operation each period of the day, both accommodating about 100 students.

TEACHER, NURSES TRAINING

Careers in Caring

Helping others while learning about future careers was a rewarding experience for students involved in teacher and nurses training programs which offered academic credit.

Under the supervision of Mrs. June Ketel, school nurse, students kept health records up to date, gave minor first aid, and filed papers. Those participating in teacher training spent part of each day at Frances Willard grade school, assisting teachers in reading drills, correcting papers, and accompanying classes on field trips. Miss Nina Kitts directed the program.

STUDENT, TEACHER AIDES

Behind the Scenes

Student and teacher aides are a vital part of school life at South. Over 50 student aides received Girls' League hours for work in the library, counselor offices and the PE department, or academic credit for work in the main office. As part of their secretarial training they typed letters, filed papers, and recorded absences. The 12 teacher aides, hired by the school board, proved invaluable to teachers by correcting tests, supervising study periods, and cutting stencils.

FOREIGN STUDENTS

Exchange for Understanding

Personal friendships with people from other countries are important in creating world understanding. Five students from the Far East and one from Switzerland added interest and variety to South Eugene classrooms this year. Peter Bossard came from Lucerne, Switzerland, as an American Field Service student. In addition to achieving academically, Peter helped the Ski Team capture the Dartmouth Cup, and was on the varsity tennis team. From the Far East were Pete Tangprasertchai from Hong Kong, two petite dark-eyed sisters from Saipan, Doris and Jeannette Pangelinan, and Osamu Yamamoto from Japan.

RETIRING TEACHERS

Abby Adams

Anticipating days of leisure when she can do the things she hasn't had time for is Miss Abby Adams, head of the foreign language department, who retired in June. Miss Adams taught 44 years, first at the old University High School, then moving to South Eugene when the two schools were consolidated. Traveling is one of her favorite activities. She has visited Europe, Mexico, Central and South America. She was the winner of one of the first Ford Foundation grants which enabled her to study in this country and in Europe. Miss Adams is pleased with the way the classroom situation has become more relaxed over the years. "Instructors no longer try to pour knowledge into their pupils, but place emphasis on helping students to think for themselves."

Miss Abby Adams

Russell Hendricks

A warm-hearted man who made history come alive for thousands of students in the course of his 36-year career is Russell Hendricks, who retired in June. All of his teaching years were spent at the old Eugene High School and at South Eugene. Unfortunately, Mr. Hendricks did not spend his last year in the classroom. Just before school opened in the fall, he underwent neurosurgery, remained at Sacred Heart Hospital until January, and then was transferred home for recovery. In the spring, he enjoyed calls from faculty members and students. A particular highlight was a visit from the Madrigal Singers. In appreciation of his years of dedicated teaching, the student body presented a check to Mr. and Mrs. Hendricks for $615.90, part of the annual Charity Drive proceeds, to help with medical expenses. The contributions of this conscientious man to education will long be remembered.

Leadership

ADMINISTRATION

Meeting the Needs

The success of any organization depends primarily upon effective administration and leadership. School District No. 4, headed by Superintendent Dr. Millard Z. Pond, provided outstanding curriculum and facilities for all of the Eugene public schools. Dr. Pond furnished the teachers and administrators with a firm backing for plans and activities which originated within the faculty group itself. The non-salaried school board worked conscientiously in conjunction with the superintendent in achieving high standards of education within a budget of $12,038,225.00.

The 60 administrators and 41 principals supervised activities in 28 elementary, nine junior, and three senior high schools as well as the Children's Hospital School. Eugene is the second largest district in Oregon, with an enrollment of 19,951 students, and personnel including 1,030 teachers and 432 others.

To meet the demands of the rapidly growing population of Oregon's second largest city, James Monroe and John F. Kennedy junior high schools were opened in 1965. A fourth high school, Winston Churchill, will open in September, 1966.

chairman, and Mrs. Gail Nicholson. Standing:

Few tasks present the challenge faced by a high school principal. He has tremendous responsibilities, not only to the students and the faculty but to the community as well. Clifford Moffitt, in his seventh year at South Eugene High, continued to provide expert leadership for the school.

Activities in the community and some personal pleasures provided brief interludes from his involvement in public education. Within the community, Mr. Moffitt served on the board of directors for the Lane County Chapter of the American Red Cross for the third consecutive year, and was chairman of the Physical Committee for the YM-YWCA. Usually during his noon-hour, if time permitted, he could be found across the street at the YMCA playing handball, and on weekends he might be found gardening or fly-fishing.

In coordinating and directing all the functions of a school, a principal is faced with numerous perplexities that tax his abilities as an administrator. Mr. Moffitt is responsible for all that transpires within the realm of South Eugene High. Throughout the year he worked to maintain an atmosphere which fostered academic study and provided incentive for group activities as well as individual accomplishments.

VICE-PRINCIPALS, COUNSELORS

The Indispensables

Working diligently for the smooth operation of the school were the three vice-principals and four counselors. Students were encouraged to make the best of their high school years through the dedicated guidance of these people.

Ralph Lind, in his first year at South Eugene, capably coordinated vital aspects of school management. Attendance and discipline occupied the greater part of his time. Miss Nina Kitts, dean of girls, supervised the activities of Girls' League and headed the scholarship program. Directing the testing and guidance programs and working with the Axemen's Council was Paul Potter, dean of boys.

Four full time counselors, Mrs. Helen Hall, Miss Barbara Barker, Merle Hayes, and Ambrose Huff, arranged schedules and advised students on academic and personal problems.

STUDENT OFFICERS

The People's Choice

Given responsibility to select, plan, and execute projects and solve problems of vital concern, the officers showed themselves capable of managing student affairs of the school.

Major goal of President John Knudsen was extending participation beyond the officers and representatives into the student body. As vice-president, Mark Lutz devoted special attention to the annual Charity Drive. Secretary Nancy Sundquist and Historian Hilda Bengtson kept the records and assumed the responsibility for effective communication throughout the school. The four auditors, Sally Bay, Mary Ann Jessen, Greg Malkasian, and Jim Lambert, managed all student financial affairs.

The officers discovered that working with their peers, the administration, and the faculty required many skills. Bound by desire to serve the school, they were determined to arouse as well as serve the interests of the entire student body.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Where the Action Is

A student governing body is given as much power and authority as it is capable of handling. The Student Council representatives, elected from their second period homerooms, brought recommendations from the students to bi-monthly meetings. Student Council served as the coordinating center for all school activities, and the representatives bridged the gap between the students and their leaders. Included in the agenda were such matters as approval of the budget, revision of the statute system, appropriation of funds for activities, and semi-annual reports from all officers and standing committee chairmen.

GIRLS' LEAGUE, AXEMEN'S COUNCIL

You Meet the Nicest People

Melanie Perry, Vice-President

Industrious students interested in planning as well as carrying out activities found purposeful work in the Girls' League program advised by Miss Nina Kitts, and with the Axemen's Council advised by Paul Potter.

As a new service project this year, 64 girls worked in the Children's Recreational Room at Sacred Heart Hospital, organizing games. Among the traditional activities effectively executed were the Big-Little Sister Picnic, the Doernbecher Tea and the Father-Daughter Banquet. The league also sponsored Print and Cord Week in April to welcome the spring season with its many activities.

Throughout the year the league selected a Girl of the Month in recognition of her leadership, service, and academic achievement. In June ten other girls were selected as V.I.G.'s (very important girls) and a scholarship was presented to Becky Hemphill and Marti Withrow.

President Becky Hemphill, also Oregon State Girls' League president, presided at the state convention held at South Eugene May 13-14. Committees worked all year planning the program and making arrangements for the banquet and overnight facilities for the 900 girls who attended.

During the first week of school, Axemen's Council served as the official welcoming committee as it planned and carried out the activities of "Hello Week." Other functions included the Christmas dance, "Yuletide Glide or Last Chance Dance," the Father-Son Banquet, and the Axehandle, student directory. On the athletic side, basketball received a more enthusiastic response than volleyball in the popular intramural program, directed by President Tim Ferguson.

Recognition of outstanding members was achieved through the Axeman of the Month program and by awarding a scholarship to Greg Fredricks and Tom Holmes.

ADULTS

They Carry the Load

Indispensable at South Eugene were the secretaries, custodians, cafeteria personnel, the nurse, and the bus drivers. Taking care of all office business, transcripts, and student records was only part of the job of the secretaries. Operating the switchboard and answering an average of 100 telephone calls a day, they played a vital roll in effective communications throughout the school.

Among other duties, the custodial crew waxed over three miles of hallway three times a year, washed 13,376 window panes, and kept the 40-acre campus shipshape. The cafeteria staff served 1,050 students every day and found that any meat and gravy combination was the most popular dish. Among other foods served daily were 100 pounds of hamburger, 70 pounds of flour for baked goods, and 800 cartons of milk.

The eleven bus drivers transported 774 students to and from school as well as to out-of-town games. Mrs. June Ketel, school nurse, who averaged 35 patients a day, maintained detailed health records on each student. Marlin Withrow, president of the Parent Teacher Association, presided at all of the organization's functions including the three class desserts.

HELLO WEEK

Greetings Southern Style

Confusion, laughter and excitement filled the long hallways of South Eugene as eager students swarmed back for another year. Girls' League ushered in 1965-66 with the Big-Little Sister picnic where sophomores met cabinet members, rally squad, Synchronettes, and watched girls model school attire appropriate for the year. Axemen's Council extended its welcome to all students by promoting the traditional "Hello Week." Name tags, an assembly which featured colored slides of school activities, and a boisterous stomp gave Axemen a chance to "get acquainted." A sunny afternoon found Axemen rallied around the flagpole for the traditional flag raising ceremony. By the end of the week, Axemen had met old friends, made new ones, and were ready to settle down for the year.

FALL COMEDY

Money Is Everything

"I'm incredibly wealthy, the son and heir to the oldest nouveau-rich family on the Eastern Seaboard. I was born with a silver spoon, a New York town house, and summers on the Riviera in my mouth," said Harry Clay as he opened South Eugene's first play of the 1965-1966 season, "Money." This riotous story of a rich man's need for a cause played to the largest audiences for a comedy in South's history. Harry's "perfect" woman refused to marry him until he had a purpose in life. As the cast romped from industrial factory to charitable institution to the San Fernando Valley, he began to wonder if he would ever find this purpose. After his long and frustrating search, she decides his money is enough and they live happily ever after.

Director Edward Ragozzino changed "Money," originally a cabaret show, into a full scale production by adding a chorus to the four-member cast. From beginning to end "Money" was full of innovations. Characters entered down the center aisle after the audience was seated. The unique curtain was made entirely of plastic clothing bags in strips and tied together to extend the length and height of the stage.

A special band, in costume, played music that was challenging, longer, and more difficult than the score for last spring's hit production of "The Sound of Music."

From the moment the playgoer saw the dollar bill bow ties on the doormen in the lobby to the final song, "Who Wants to Work?", the exciting spirit traditionally generated by South Eugene productions was present in "Money," so much so, in fact, that the cast was invited to repeat the success at the 1966 Northwest Drama Conference, held on the University of Oregon campus in February.

HOMECOMING '65

Axemen A Go-Go!

A roaring bonfire and the crowning of the 1965 Homecoming court sparked the beginning of three activity-filled days of color and excitement in November. The soaring flames of the leaping bonfire drew Axemen together to see radiant Patty Bowles crowned queen of the once-every-three-years event. Yells were chanted, songs were sung, and spirits rose as the myriad of gala events of Homecoming '65 began.

A sunny fall afternoon invited crowds onto the streets of downtown Eugene to see a caravan of floats, bands, and cars to the theme of Axemen A Go-Go serpentine along the chosen parade route. Led by pretty Miss Oregon, Sue Pack, a '65 South grad, the seemingly endless line of entries ranging from the cook's recipe for filbert stew to the A Cappella's enthusiastic singing brought stares, smiles, and applause.

High-spirited Axemen filled the stadium Friday evening to see the "Civil War" with crosstown rival North Eugene. Pep Club ushered in the football team by forming a line for the players to run through onto the field to begin their struggle with the Highlanders. Before a screaming crowd of enthusiastic fans, the game came to a disappointing end, 19-7 in North's favor.

Half-time entertainment included the marching band and majorettes, the dancing Synchronettes, and the announcement of the parade float winners. "Most Humorous Float" went to Medical Careers for their "after the battle" scene typifying the situation after the North-South game. "Best Class Float" went to the seniors for their "Leaders of Tomorrow" theme with a huge mortar board and scroll. "Most Original Float" honor was awarded to the sophomores for their "Famous Axemen" showing George Washington chopping down a filbert tree. A Cappella choir won "Best All-Around" for the theme, "Stately She Stands," with members singing the alma mater throughout the entire parade route.

The football loss did not dampen the Homecoming spirit as shown by the 119 people who turned out for the hearty alumni breakfast the next morning. Axemen, old and new, gathered to hear Edgar Goodnough speak on "Old Times at Eugene High," listen to the Madrigals, and to renew memories of high school days.

Tired but happy Axemen who had worked on Homecoming '65 for months saw it draw to a fitting close Saturday night at "Her Memory Lingers." the Homecoming dance. Subdued lighting, romantic couples, and soft music provided an atmosphere of relaxation and recollection of those fun-filled days.

DOERNBECHER TEA

Dolls Steal the Show

Proud girls and doting mothers crowded the South Eugene cafeteria December 2 for the twelfth annual Doernbecher Tea. Sponsored by the Girls' League, the tea combined opportunities for girls and mothers to meet teachers and friends with the chance to display homemade dolls to be given as Christmas presents to needy children.

Originality and hard work went into the class-sponsored displays. Animals, circus wagons, and sawdust "Under the Big Top" won first place for the junior class. A sleepy little girl napped in her pink and white room in the sophomore display, "Sweet Dreams, Doernbecher Children," and the seniors presented a sparkling Emerald City and Yellow Brick Road from the "Wizard of Oz."

The Doernbecher Tea illustrated the success possible when girls cooperate to create something of value. Beautiful tea tables, charming hostesses, and interesting guests added to the Christmas excitement.

CHRISTMAS ACTIVITIES

The Creatures Were Stirring

Christmas, with its many facets, brought excitement, solemnity, and good will to South Eugene. Everyone responded to the season's spirit in his own way. A Cappella choir members spent months in rehearsal for their beautiful Christmas performance of Handel's "Messiah." The Girls' League Doernbecher Tea lighted the facet of charity in early December as girls made dolls for children's hospitals. The friendly rivalry among the language clubs was suspended as the French, German and Spanish clubs combined to hold a multi-lingual caroling party. National Thespians entertained the children of Weyerhaeuser employees with a Christmas variety show the day after their semi-formal dance at the home of Becky Hemphill. "Yuletide Glide," sponsored by Axemen's Council, took the place of the Sophomore Christmas Dance.

The Activities Committee decorated the front and center halls with greenery, candy canes, a brick fireplace, and a stained glass window. Members of the faculty highlighted Christmas in their classes, some with actual study units, others with festive bulletin boards and room decorations. Following the tradition of many years, the A Cappella choir sang carols in the halls, and holiday music was played over the public address system during lunch hours. From the happy sounds of cheerful greetings to the joyous and beautiful melodies of the "Messiah," Axemen were surrounded by Christmas.

"A witch boy from the mountain came, a pinin' to be human—for he had seen the fairest gal, a gal named Barbara Allen." Taken from the folk song version of the legend of Barbara Allen, "Dark of the Moon" told the haunting story of John the witch boy's love for the blue-eyed mountain girl, Barbara Allen. Against a background of fundamentalist Christianity and age-old superstition, John and Barbara's love stands out simply and tragically. The fear of witches which grips the townspeople makes them force Barbara to be untrue to her husband and by so doing condemn him to 300 years as a witch and then "just a mountain fog."

Directed and acted with sincerity and sensitivity, "Dark of the Moon" dealt with the earthy Christianity of the southern mountain people in an adult manner which brought praise from the school and community. The play was performed on a setting of 60 levels which extended completely across the orchestra pit. Playing the musical score by Ford Foundation composer-in-residence Karl Kroeger, the orchestra was seated in the balcony. Subdued lighting and the eerie cries of the witches emphasized the complexity of John's two worlds, supernatural and real.

As South's second dramatic presentation of the year, "Dark of the Moon," staged February 4 and 5, drew the first sell-out audiences for a non-musical show. The audience, and cast of 45, largest ever involved in a drama, were thrilled by the appearance of playwright Howard Richardson for the closing performance. Mr. Richardson, a resident of New York, found the South Eugene production of his play, "One of the best I've ever seen."

CHARITY DRIVE

Happiness Is Giving

South's 1966 Charity Drive, lasting two weeks and winding up just before spring vacation, was a whirlwind of activity for all three classes. New ideas were tried and old ones proved as good as ever as the combined total of all classes mounted to $2390. This year there was a special effort to make the final total as large as possible without class competition becoming the most important thing.

Sophomores led in money earned with a total of $948.87, followed by the seniors with $786.29, and the juniors with $682.12. Student Body President John Knudsen presented checks to Pearl Buck School, the Children's Hospital School, and the Russell Hendricks Fund. Pearl Buck's amount is to be matched by the Federal Government. During the 14-day drive, Axemen worked on sales of doughnuts and popcorn balls, bottle drives, an all-class spaghetti feed, a carnival, car washes, and a student-faculty basketball game. New this year was the senior project of taking over Rip's Drive-In for an afternoon and evening and splitting the profits with the management.

Kaleidoscope of Sound

"An unusual band show" was the theme given to "Opus VI in Color." Directed by Robert Moblo, the Axemen concert band, together with stage band and singers, and Majorettes, presented a variety of numbers ranging from classical to jazz. A new concept in music, the "Facade" which used poetry as a vocal instrument effecting rhythm and speed, was introduced. Solos and student direction of several numbers were added features of the February performance.

The flute section presented "Flute Flight" with additional solos by the clarinet and percussion sections. South Eugene's 19-piece stage band and singers presented "Blue Rondo a la Turk," "Cute," and "Shot in the Dark," along with the marching Majorettes doing a number to the "Minstrel Man."

ELECTIONS

Election week, March 22-29, found the brightly decorated halls bustling with activity. Batman and op art posters, gay mobiles, musical combos, and personalized napkins and toothpicks were used by the candidates in an all-out effort to gain votes. Speeches in an assembly culminated the week of vigorous and intense campaigning. A close contest developed between Mark Lutz and Jim Ellickson for student body president, and a special run-off election was necessary when neither candidate received a majority.

According to the final count, the 1966-67 student body officers are Mark Lutz, president; Greg Edblom, vice president; Mary Hughes, secretary; and Karen Smith, historian. Heading Girls' League and Axemen's Council will be Melanie Perry and John Coker. Four co-auditors, Kathy Applegate, Nonda Wilson, Ron Brummond and Dan Simmons, were elected by Student Council.

PRINT AND CORD WEEK

Spring is Sprung

Gay prints, wild shirts, and colorful jams blossomed out in April during the annual Print and Cord Week. Girls' League provided a variety of activities for each day of the week. On Monday, nominations for the Prettiest Dress, Brightest Shirt and Cutest Couple took place. At noon, boys pedalled down the sidewalk, competing in the tricycle race. Tuesday was Twirp Day, allowing a boy to tag any girl and make her his "slave." Bubble gum and balloon blowing contests were featured during lunch. Wednesday was Color Day, seniors wearing yellow, juniors blue, and sophomores green. The seniors had the highest percentage of participants, allowing their class to be dismissed five minutes early for lunch. Sack and school lunches were eaten outside while students watched the hilarious tug-of-war between classes. Girls were quiet on Thursday in order to keep their "talk tags," forfeiting them if they spoke to a boy. "Mr. Irresistible" and "Miss Mushmouth" were the titles given to the boy who received the most tags and the girl who forfeited the most. A boy-ask-girl dance, "Bumble Bee Blast," highlighted by live music and "springy" decorations, ended a spirited week of color and excitement.

SPRING ACTIVITIES

Year-end Fun

Spring ushered in a host of exciting, once-a-year events.

The Girls' League State Convention in May, held at South because of Becky Hemphill's position as president, was attended by over 1,000 girls from around the state. At an informal reception Friday night, May 13, the girls got acquainted. Saturday's activities included a general assembly, buzz sessions, a luncheon, and the installation of next year's officers.

Cooperation from the weatherman, a beautiful setting, and delicious food combined to make the second annual Girls' League Pin Club mother-daughter luau a great success. Held on Jinny Jacob's patio among bright spring flowers, the luau featured entertainment by the Madrigal Singers. Purchasing and preparing of food for the hundred guests was done entirely by members. Highlight of the evening was the renaming of the Girls' League Scholarship as the Miss Nina Z. Kitts Scholarship in honor of Miss Kitts, Girls' League Advisor for 21 years.

Beautiful outfits were modeled in this year's spring style show, "Tiptoe Through the Tulips," sponsored by FHA. The garments, completed with patience, skill, and hard work, included swim suits, formals, walking suits, and wedding gowns. The girls were justly proud of their lovely creations.

SPRING MUSICAL

"Oliver!"

September rumors became reality during January tryouts—"Oliver!" was coming to the South stage! Excitement mounted among drama enthusiasts as the nerve-wracking process of casting progressed. Scores of small boys auditioned for the coveted role of Oliver. Songs from the Broadway hit echoed around the Little Theater—"As Long As He Needs Me," "Where Is Love," "Food, Glorious Food," and "You've Got to Pick a Pocket or Two."

Lionel Bart adapted and scored the Dickens' classic for the stage. He was faithful to the original story and created a musical of haunting beauty and wistful sadness. "Oliver!" is not a musical comedy. There is nothing comic in the cruelty of Bill Sikes, head of the London underworld, the sufferings of the young Oliver, or the tragic death of Nancy, Oliver's friend among the thieves. Fagin, teacher of the pickpockets, has moments of misgivings about his life but decides after "Reviewing the Situation" that he is too old to change. Although Bill Sikes mistreats her, Nancy is convinced that he needs her. She finally discovers that Oliver also needs her love and her protection.

Technical aspects of "Oliver!" were as polished as the actors' performances. The revolving stage made scene changes faster and smoother. Prop committee members spent weeks searching out snuff boxes, ale mugs, long clay pipes, and a dog. Costumes transformed the cast into ragged members of nineteenth century London slum society.

"Oliver!" played to sellout audiences—a total of 9000 for the four-night run. Some were surprised by the unhappy plot. Others were thrilled by the professional quality of the entire production. All who viewed "Oliver!" knew they would long remember it.

GIRL AND BOY OF THE MONTH

The Active Ones

Active Axemen contributed in many ways to the vital life of South Eugene High School. In sports, in academics, in activities and in leadership, these girls and boys stood out. They were recognized throughout the year by the Axemen's Council and the Girls' League for their individual contributions to the maintenance of the high standards of their school.

GERMAN CLUB, directed by Adviser Gerald Webking and President Guy Renfro, met monthly to learn more about German customs, and to just plain "have fun!" Designing a float for the Homecoming parade, devouring German food at a potluck dinner, inventing fantastic costumes for a typical South German Faschings Party, and cycling to Fern Ridge Lake were a few of the many worthwhile activities. In addition, seven students organized the German band, which played at many school events.

FRENCH CLUB members were given an opportunity this year to explore French culture and to gain more experience in speaking that language. Under the direction of Advisers Sue Bach and Betty Kaspar and President Mike Watkins, the club engaged in several activities. The initiation ceremony, which included a number of pantomimes and games, was characteristic of the informal atmosphere at regular monthly meetings. Other activities included the annual Christmas party with German and Spanish clubs, a club breakfast, and a lecture on France by Norman Johnson of the University of Oregon.

SPANISH CLUB centered its activities around a better understanding of the language and peoples of Spanish-speaking nations. Rangel Guerrera, a visiting speaker from Mexico, gave students a personal idea of the people and customs of Mexico. Members also wrote letters to teenagers of Spanish speaking countries, were hosts to a Cuban refugee family, and sang Spanish carols to Eugene residents at Christmas. The club was directed by President Sallie Schmitt and Adviser Barbara Stiles.

BIOLOGY CLUB, advised by Mrs. Nora Robertson, offered students a chance to develop their scientific interests. Field trips were made to the Mouse House at the University of Oregon, the Eugene Water and Electric Board plant, the biological station at Newport, and the Linfield College science exhibit. Meetings were led by President Jim Wilson and frequently consisted of lectures by various biologists from around the state. Highlighting the year's activities was a weekend study trip to the coast in the spring.

RADIO CLUB, transmitting over ham radio station WA7CIK, practiced Morse Code and listened to radio technique lectures by President Bob Griswold. Meeting after school each Tuesday in the small radio room upstairs, members worked toward achieving their amateur operator's licenses. The club's adviser was Kenneth Howland.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA explored the many aspects of careers in home economics. The club's goal was to emphasize individual creativity and development of personal ideas. Mrs. Betty Wormington, adviser, aided the girls by inviting home economists to speak at meetings and giving helpful advice concerning culinary or tailoring problems. Trips were taken to local stores and bakeries, as well as an excursion to the home economics' department at Oregon State University.

POLITICOS members tried to become better citizens by informing themselves on international relations, foreign government, and current affairs. Guided by President Joe Rubenstein and Adviser Ed Goodnough, members discussed a Ku Klux Klan recruiting tape recording, sponsored a candidates' forum for presidential and vice-presidential candidates during the school election campaign, and heard speeches of various candidates running for state and local offices in the May primary election.

JUNIOR BUSINESS LEADERS OF AMERICA united students in a common interest by improving their understanding of the business world. A series of talks by professional men and women on subjects including management, job opportunities and personnel were presented. Members visited a nursing home at Christmas and donated a tree, attended a get-acquainted potluck dinner, and enjoyed a day at the coast with Service Club in April. A $100 scholarship was presented to the most active senior member at the close of the year.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA, open to any student enrolled in the agricultural department, created a program which developed agricultural leadership, cooperation and citizenship. During the year, students visited farms and ranches to observe good agricultural practices, and held functions on Halloween and Valentine's Day. President Kelly Lovelace and Adviser Gene Dixon helped many interested students in their work towards careers in agriculture. At the conclusion of the year's activities, one $50 and one $25 scholarship were awarded to the two most outstanding members.

MEDICAL CAREERS CLUB, composed of girls interested in nursing, medicine, or health, was advised by Mrs. June Ketel, school nurse. Members collected Christmas toys for the Children's Mental Hospital in Salem, sponsored a potluck dinner in February for their sister clubs from surrounding high schools, and visited the University of Oregon Medical School in Portland. Meetings, led by President Gertie George, often consisted of guest speakers from various medical institutions.

CAMERA CLUB, a new organization, was initiated by the photographers of the journalism department. Using the one 4" by 5" and three 2-1/4" cameras belonging to the school, members took pictures for the Eugenean and Axe. Activities were directed by President Stewart Aly and Adviser Mrs. Alyce Sheetz.

MATH CLUB gave students the opportunity to become acquainted with aspects of mathematics not exposed in the classroom. President Bob Yood and Adviser Robert Stothers kept activities interesting by inviting mathematicians from the University of Oregon to speak before the club. Exciting event of the year was the demonstration of the computer on the Oregon campus.

SKI CLUB, with a membership of over 300 students, was the most popular organization at South. Fortunately, it was a year of snow, and each Saturday enthusiastic members packed the bus for the trip to Willamette Pass. Activities began with a potluck banquet at which the year's agenda was outlined, and the latest ski fashions modeled. Meetings were held the first Monday of each month, with President Gary Papé presiding. Movies were presented by Warren Miller, famed ski film producer and other guest exhibitors. An overnight trip to Mt. Ashland was the highlight of the year and signaled the end of the season. Advisers were Mrs. Elizabeth Reanier, Gerald Webking and Mrs. Pat Iskra.

SERVICE CLUB, under the direction of President Larry Allen and Advisers George Petersen and Richard Embree, handled tickets at home games, worked at concession stands, and ushered at important school events. Creating a float for the Homecoming parade, furnishing a Christmas tree for the faculty room, and enjoying a trip to the coast in the spring were some of the projects that highlighted the year.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA, led by President Paula Farquhar and Advisers William Dedman and Dr. Raymond Kehl, offered an excellent opportunity for students to explore the world of education. In visits to the University of Oregon and to several grade schools, members became acquainted with some of the responsibilities which face teachers.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION CLUB OF AMERICA gave members a chance to gain knowledge and experience in marketing and distribution, and to build status at South Eugene for careers in this field. DECA members assisted with Eugene's Christmas Village, had a potluck dinner and fashion show, and sold candy and troll dolls to help increase club funds. Under the direction of President Jim Halford and Adviser Mrs. Alice Barnhart, members also managed the school store and received ten percent of the profits for their treasury.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS LEAGUE devoted most of the year to the study of "Emerging African Nations." Under the direction of President Meg Ghent and Advisers Miss Grace Miller and James Freeman, members participated in the annual fund-raising UNICEF Halloween drive, learned folk dances at bi-weekly meetings, and attended the state conference at the University of Oregon. The club also sponsored the annual IRL assembly on United Nations Day.

PALETTEERS gave members a chance to further their interest in art and fundamentals of design. Aided by Adviser Maurice Van and President Sheila Anderson, members decorated murals on the new wastepaper cans for the school grounds, helped paint a permanent mural for the hall outside the art room, and took sketching trips to the McKenzie River and several coastal areas. In June, a $10 gift certificate from Cole's Art Supplies was presented to the most active member of the club.

Y-TEENS were eager to develop as individuals through community service. Led by President Joanne Woodworth and Adviser Mrs. Jacqueline Bonner, members made Easter Baskets for the Children's Hospital School, sponsored several parties and an all-school dance with the Hi-Y group, and sold Christmas trees to help increase club funds. Members also drafted a bill on bankruptcy claims for the "Youth and Government" mock legislature in Salem.

SYNCHRONETTES' sparkling dance routines added "pzazz" to the year's sports activities. Under the direction of President Laura Barr and Adviser Miss Edna Glines, the fourteen girls choreographed their own routines for performance at rally assemblies, football half-times, and four basketball games. Besides the three outfits supplied by the school, Synchronettes sold donuts to raise money for special outfits to use in their James Bond "007" dance. The girls practiced their synchronized dance for two hours a day after school, and when more time was required, resorted to 7:00 a.m. sessions.

PEP CLUB members, exploding into a turmoil of purple and white at every South score, created colorful spirit to build student enthusiasm and team morale. Directed by Mrs. Elinor McLendon and President Beth Bryant, members sold concessions and mums before and during the Homecoming game, painted spirit banners for the school halls, and chartered buses for student transportation to away-games. Members also sold spirit tags to further encourage student attendance. The club sponsored a banquet at the end of each athletic season to honor all coaches and players who participated.

E CLUB, symbolizing athletic achievement, was open to any boy who had earned a varsity letter. Members sold programs at football games, checked tickets at all home basketball games, and maintained order at sports events. Presidents Gary Papé and Jud Guitteau, with the help of Adviser Harry Johnson, planned activities, including the two initiations, a dance co-sponsored with the Pep Club, and an end-of-the-year party.

THE BOYS' WHITE SHIRT SECTION gave thunderous encouragement to the basketball teams. Led by the yell kings, the boys "Hoorayed" every basket and sometimes chided the opposition with their yells. Supporting the teams in defeat as well as victory, the White Shirt section always guaranteed an enthusiastic game.

PEP BAND, led by student leader Charles Cunningham, provided spirited music at all home basketball games. Kicking off each game with the National Anthem, the band played for rally routines and halftime shows, ending with the Alma Mater. The group, advised by Robert Moblo, also took part in pep assemblies.

Piercing cries of "Give 'em the Axe!" cracked the crisp fall air during football season and sparked support of the Axemen basketball squad in packed gymnasiums. Leading the spirited spectators were the bouncy Varsity Rally Squad members and energetic Yell Kings.

The pert and pretty JV Rally members boosted their teams, too. But a tragic automobile accident in October took the life of lovely Lynn Buss and put petite Meg Stickels out of action for six months. Betsy Cross was appointed to help with the cheer leading for the rest of the year.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

Disappointing Season

It was a hard-fought but frustrating four-win, five-loss season for the Axemen football team. Although the gridders were hard hit by graduation, they were tabbed to take the runner-up spot by a pre-season poll of league coaches. After a strong start, they suffered a mid-season slump, losing three games in a row as injuries to key players and an inexperienced defensive secondary hindered their success. Bad breaks and mistakes under pressure often resulted in games being lost in fourth quarters. The effort and desire of the squad, coached by Dave Powell, Harry Johnson and Mike Rose, generated many exciting games as well as several outstanding individual performances. Against the league's top teams such as North Eugene, Roseburg and Marshfield, the Axemen displayed winning qualities throughout the major portions of the games, but were unable to maintain their leads. At the end of the season, South suffered its first loss to North Eugene in their seven-year rivalry as the Highlanders overcame a fourth quarter lead to win the game and the district co-championship.

A tremendous crowd greeted the footballers when they opened the season against th. surprisingly strong Thurston Colts with a 12-6 victory. South displayed a powerful running game with Scott Ferguson and Terry Kane gaining all but 28 of the team's rushing yards. The Axemen scored first on a tackle-eligible pass play to Jim Wathey near the close of the first half. After a Colt fumble on a punting situation, Kane, who was exceptional on his end sweeps and long sideline dashes, went the final four yards on the late fourth quarter drive for the winning touchdown.

Running again proved to be the strong point in the Axemen attack when they edged out North Bend 20-18. Senior halfback Pete Marsh, outstanding throughout the game, chalked up 93 yards rushing, and scored two touchdowns on runs of 15 and 35 yards. South drew first blood on one of Marsh's runs after a Bulldog fumble was recovered on the North Bend 38-yard line. After a Jim Corcoran to Wathey tackle-eligible pass for a TD, the Axemen came back in the fourth period with another Marsh touchdown run to gain the victory.

Over 5,000 spectators crowded into Civic Stadium to watch South tangle with unbeaten Sheldon, fifth rated team in the state. South's offense spent most of the first half watching from the sidelines as Irish quarterback Mick O'Conner led his team to a lop-sided 23-0 halftime bulge. The Axemen came back in the fourth quarter with Corcoran passing to split-end Kip Leonard for two touchdowns that made the final tally 35-14.

The Axemen bounced back against Springfield and played one of their best games of the season. Led by Marsh, who picked up 150 yards rushing, South totalled 365 yards offensively as they downed the Millers 14-0. Once again the tackle-eligible play was successful with Wathey scoring on a 20-yard pass from Corcoran. Defensively, South also played well, holding Springfield to a mere 124 yards.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

South was shocked at Cottage Grove when the Lions used an exceptionally stingy defense to protect their only score and gain a 7-0 upset. The Axemen's mighty running attack was held to a net-3 yards and they never could sustain a drive to put across a score.

Against Marshfield the Axemen opened fast with two first quarter touchdowns, both after South's defense had recovered fumbles in Pirate territory. In the second period, Corcoran lofted a perfect strike to Leonard who raced down the sidelines for the score, completing a beautiful 74-yard pass-run play. After a scoreless third quarter, Marshfield tallied with two minutes remaining to erase South's six point lead and win 21-20.

Disaster again faced the Axemen in a fourth period, this time in front of a large Homecoming crowd at Roseburg. Defensive end Jeff Brown streaked 25 yards after a pass interception in the third quarter to give South a 7-0 lead. The Indians soon tied the score, then exploded for two touchdowns in the final quarter for a 20-7 bulge that meant South's third consecutive defeat.

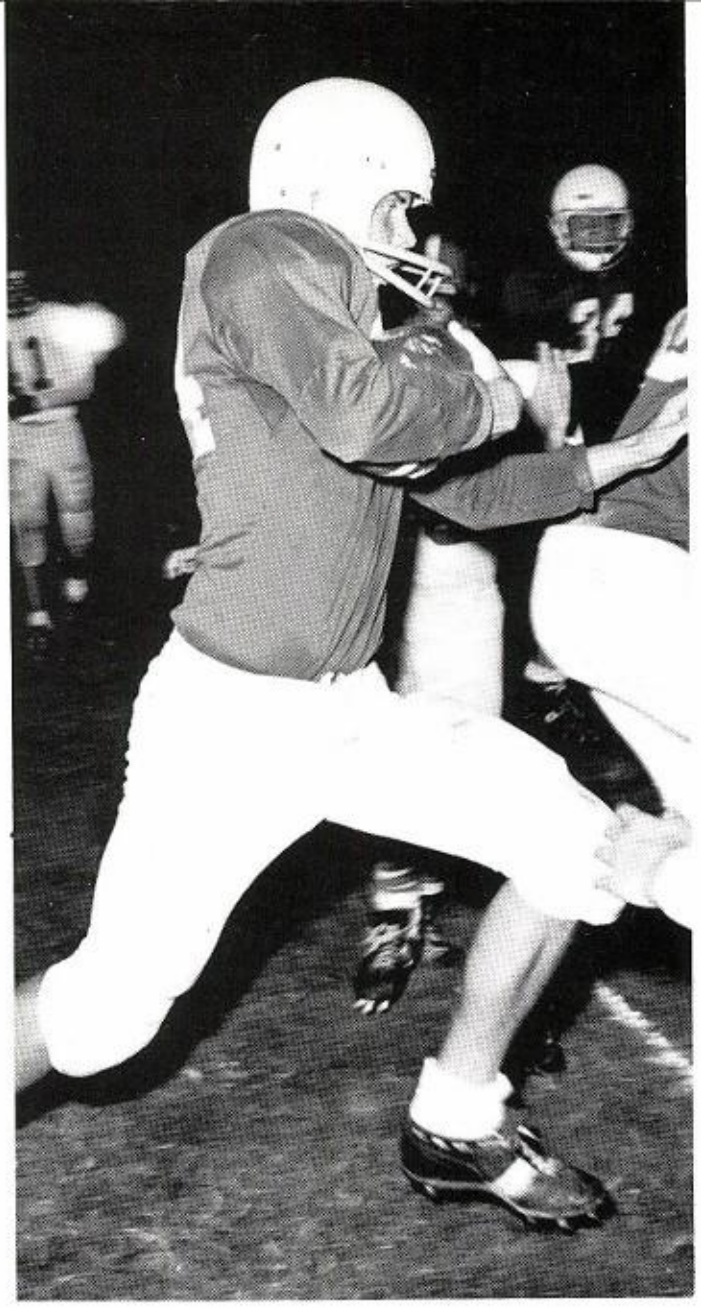
Scott Ferguson applies "face mask" hold to bring down Thurston fullback.

Scoring the first two times they had the ball, the Axemen put on a brilliant offensive show to defeat fast-improving Willamette 26-13. Scott Ferguson scored both first period touchdowns, ran and blocked with authority, and starred on defense in the one-sided contest. South's other two tallies were provided by Co-captain Mike Johnson. Both times the tight-end gathered in passes from quarterback Corcoran who had his best game of the year, completing a perfect seven out of seven passes for 152 yards.

Spirit soared high in the season's final game—South's Homecoming battle with traditional cross-town rival North Eugene. North needed the victory for the district co-championship, while South attempted to lengthen its six-game win streak over the Highlanders. In the emotion-packed contest, North defeated South for the first time ever. A capacity crowd saw the Axemen gain a 7-0 lead on the strength of Ferguson's running, and hold on defensively to remain in front 7-6 at the end of three periods. But once again the fourth quarter spelled defeat. North offensed its way to two late scores and walked away with a 19-7 victory and a berth in the state playoffs.

Tackle Jim Wathey was placed on District 5-A-1's second offensive team, and guard Gary Papé and halfback Pete Marsh were given honorable mention. Papé was also awarded the Simmons Cup as the team's "Most Inspirational Player" and fullback Scott Ferguson was named to the state squad for the 1966 Shrine All-Star game.



Dan Larsen, halfback, rips through North Eugene's line.

JV FOOTBALL

A successful four win—three loss season marked Del Freeman's first season as coach of South Eugene's JV football squad. The JV's made up for lack of size with speed and desire and came up with several impressive victories. The Axemen blanked North Eugene 26-0 and Willamette 32-0 and also sent the score skyrocketing as they beat Sheldon 27-7. Experience gained by team members this year will provide the talent for future varsity teams. Outstanding candidates for varsity action next year are running backs Erik Myrmo and Ron Braatz, tackle Glen Brummell and defensive back Jim McMillan.

Coach Dale Jones' sophomore team proved to be the most successful football squad at South Eugene this year, recording an undefeated season. In their six wins, the Baby Axemen produced several prospects for future varsity competition. A powerful backfield composed of John Chaney, Bob Dunham, Pat Maney and Dave Merriam provided the offensive punch that propelled the sophomores to victory. A stingy defense, spearheaded by Paul Skillern and Larry Mellem, that allowed opponents only 48 points, complemented the offense. Spirit and determination characterized the season, carrying the Axemen to victory as they twice came from behind to down their roughest opponent, Cottage Grove.

Axemen swimmers capped a great season by taking second place in the state meet held at the University of Oregon's Leighton Pool. Rick Sikes and Roger Barrow placed second in diving and the 100-yard breaststroke, respectively. Charlie Scharpf took third in the 400-yard freestyle, and Doug McCallum captured fifth in the 100-yard butterfly. Both the 200-yard medley and 400-yard freestyle relay teams placed fourth.

One week earlier the boys easily won the District 5-A-1 crown, scoring 87 points to runner-up North Eugene's 35. Scharpf picked up a first in the 400-yard freestyle, and a second in the 200-yard individual medley. The remainder of the team added two first places, five seconds, and three thirds.

South finished the regular dual meet season by capturing its third consecutive city championship. The Axemen scored 84 points to 43 for North Eugene and 40 for Sheldon. The meet was loaded with outstanding performances, especially by Co-Captain Mark Tindall and sophomore Scharpf, each winning two events. Tindall won the 50 and 100-yard freestyle races, while Scharpf took the 200-yard individual medley and the 400-yard freestyle. The 200-yard medley relay team eclipsed the old record by six seconds, and Co-Captain Roger Barrow set a new mark in the 100-yard breaststroke. Bob Morse won the 200-yard freestyle, and the 400-yard freestyle relay team placed first.

With Cheryl Jacobson and Darlene Staley scoring all of the points, the girls finished in seventh place at the state meet. Cheryl picked up two thirds and Darlene was fourth in two events. The girls placed second in the district meet. Cheryl and Darlene again led the way with Cheryl winning two events, and Darlene a first and a second.

Coached by Bob Williams, both the boys and the girls compiled undefeated dual meet records. The boys won seven consecutive dual meets, extending their record to 24 victories in 25 dual meets, over the past three years.

The swimmers achieved their great season with before-dawn practice sessions. Six days a week for three months, the dedicated boys and girls had to leave cozy beds at 5:30 a.m. to get to the Y pool for two-hour workouts before school started. Their early-bird efforts paid off.

Fun with a Purpose

Again this year, Axemen's Council sponsored the after-school intramural program, offering all boys not participating on school teams an opportunity to take part in athletics. Approximately 160 boys played in volleyball and basketball games, organized and officiated by students.

Hank Skade's team, consisting of Bob Hanes, Steve Metzger, Bob Stacy, Ted Wood, Mike Lafferty and Leo Tsou, won the volleyball championship with an undefeated season. The basketball crown was won by Chum Chitty's team composed of Greg Fredricks, Lewis Weber, Jim Willis, Steve Strahon, Chuck Wagar, Jon Reigles and Tom Kilpatrick.

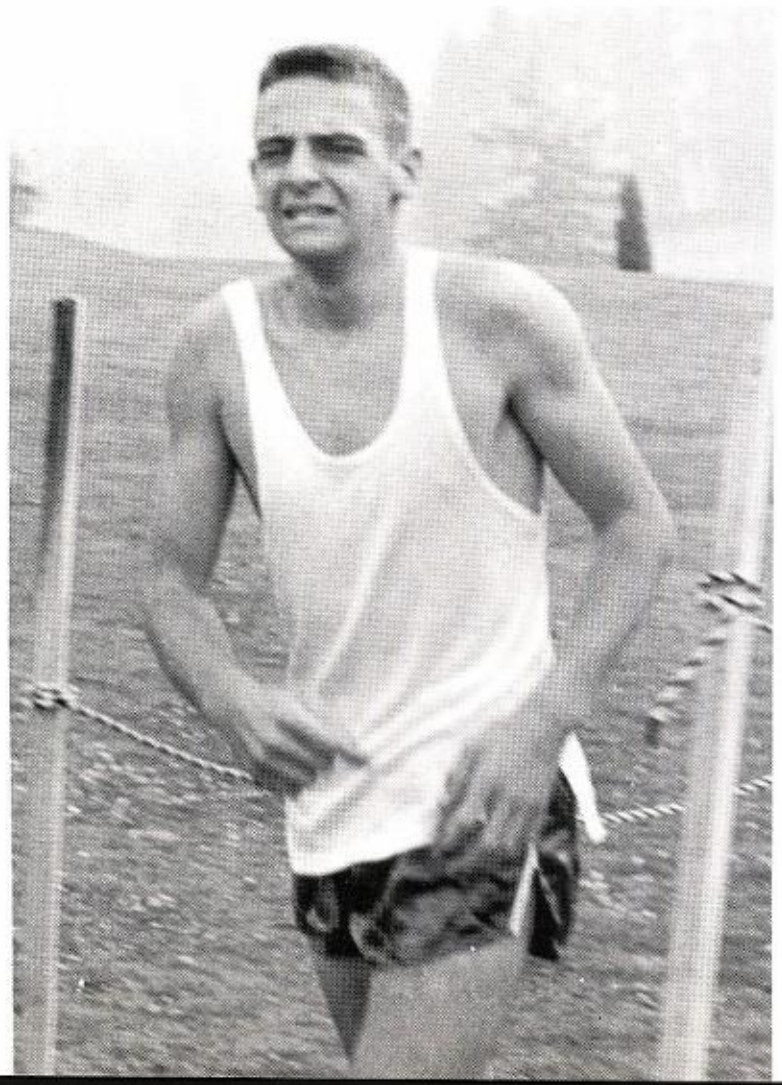
CROSS COUNTRY

Painful Path to Glory



Coached by Bob Kane, captained by Guy Renfro, and paced by seniors and sophomores, the varsity cross-country team ran away from local competition in capturing the district crown, and took third place in the state meet.

Kane, in his first season as cross-country coach, instilled a determination in his runners that was the key to the relatively young team's success. Renfro, one of the four seniors on the regular varsity, placed first in all but one of the squad's dual meets, took fifth in the district meet and tenth in state. Renfro was pushed throughout the season by sophomore Scott Ryman, who upset favorites in winning the district meet. Ryman also led South runners at state, placing eighth. The talent of the squad's sophomores was a chief reason for the Axemen's winning season. Four underclassmen, Chris Bell, Dan Norton, Joe Percival and Ryman joined seniors Don Herrman, Dave Murphy, Renfro, and Dick Thorin on the first team.

Backboard Jungle

With only one returning starter in a group of five lettermen, Hank Kuchera was faced this year with a problem he had so successfully solved in the past—how to build a winning team. "Kuch" took a group of players with no outstanding individuals and molded them into a smooth-running team that finished fifth in district with a 10-8 record. Kuch had lettermen Jeff Brown, Mike Johnson, Mike Myers, Hank Skade, and captain and lone returning starter Jim Wathey for the nucleus of this year's squad. With the valuable help of Tom Nilsen and Leo Tsou, the Axemen compiled an overall 11-11 record, moving Kuch's 23-year coaching mark to 444-166.

The Axemen got off to a dismal start, losing to South Salem, a team that was later ranked No. 1 in state. Two losses to powerful Medford followed before South was able to win against North Salem. District competition began against arch-rival North Eugene at McArthur Court. North, eventual state champion, won 65-43. But South bounced back with an impressive victory over district co-champion Thurston. Against the Colts, the Axemen sped to a 25-9 first quarter lead, led 40-29 at the half and held off a Thurston rally in the fourth quarter to win 68-61. Back on the winning trail, the Axemen easily beat Cottage Grove and took a big victory in downing the Marshfield Pirates, looking like a contender for a tourney berth.

Roseburg, sixth in district, was next in a game that proved to be the turning point of the season. After falling behind the first three quarters, the Axemen rallied in the last period to catch the Indians with minutes left. The Axemen then forged ahead with seven seconds to go, but Roseburg won the game on a disputed basket made with no time remaining. A win at Roseburg would perhaps have given the Axemen the needed momentum to win several close contests later in the season.

South split the next five weekends, losing again to North Eugene, Sheldon, and Roseburg and also to Thurston and North Bend. But the last ten games were not without bright spots. One of these came with South's 31-18 victory over Marshfield. Nilsen, who came on strong in midseason, sparked the win as he outscored the entire Pirate team with 19 points. Although the Axemen lost the second game with North Eugene, the contest was one of South's better games. The Axemen came from 14 points behind in the first period to lead by one at halftime. The second half was nip and tuck, with the state champion Highlanders finally winning 48-45. Willamette, the season finale, was another high point. With seniors Wathey, Skade, Brown and Scott Shaw scoring in double figures, the Axemen bombed the Wolverines 86-45.

At the conclusion of the season, Wathey was named recipient of the Henry E. Kuchera Trophy as this year's outstanding player. Skade was given the Player of the Evening award presented annually by the Pep Club. In addition, Wathey was named to the second All-District team.

Chris Krenk, the squad's top scorer at midseason, was moved up to the varsity team. Sophomore Bob Dunham replaced Krenk as leading scorer. Other varsity prospects include Lonnie Davis, Terry Kane and Dan Larsen.

GYMNASTICS

Four in a Row

South Eugene's gymnasts climaxed a hard-fought season by winning their fourth consecutive state championship at McArthur Court in March. Early in the season, David Douglas was touted as the favorite, and it appeared that this prediction might come true when the Axemen lost the season opener to the Scots 87-74.

South got its revenge, however, winning the last eight meets and beating David Douglas twice. Other victories were over Cottage Grove, North Eugene, Sheldon, South Salem, Thurston and the University of Oregon Frosh.

By the time the district meet rolled around, South was not only favored to win, but was also given the nod for the state title. All 12 gymnasts in the district meet qualified for state as South piled up 107-1/2 points to 68 for runner-up Sheldon and 53-1/2 for third place North Eugene.

At the state meet, the Axemen made the late-season prediction stand, edging out David Douglas for the crown. Co-Captain Bob Hanes placed second in floor exercise with Ron Moninger taking fourth. In the side horse event Tim Rayley became the new state champion and Tim Ferguson placed third. Ron Moninger captured second place in the horizontal bar and Bruce Hoyt, sixth. In the long horse Tim Rayley came back to take second and Greg Maxwell finished sixth. In parallel bars, the only event in which South captured just one place, Ron Moninger took eighth. Jim Lambert, South's other co-captain, took the championship in still rings and Jerry Donaldson placed seventh. But probably the biggest surprise was the victory by Moninger in all-around competition. He is the only junior ever to win that title.

WRESTLING

Hammerlock on Success

Axemen wrestlers began the season with the prospect of becoming a great team, and that prospect soon materialized. In their first meet, a four-way event held at North Eugene, the wrestlers finished in a tie for first place with North Eugene.

The team then had one week to close out practices prior to the start of the dual meet season and the hard work put in during that week paid off. Coached by Bob Williams, the wrestlers completed the season with only two losses in dual meets.

After an opening defeat at the hands of North Salem 33-20, a non-district meet, South won three straight meets, lost to Roseburg, then closed with three more victories. The contest with Roseburg was also a non-district meet. The Axemen defeated Sheldon 29-24, then beat North Bend 29-22 and Springfield 36-16 before the loss to Roseburg 27-19.

After outclassing St. Francis 34-6, the wrestlers traveled to North Eugene where they were victorious over the Highlanders 26-22 giving South the Lane A-1 title. They then competed at Marshfield, defeating the Pirates 25-24 and winning the 5-A-1 crown.

At the district meet held at Willamette High School, the wrestlers finished third place behind Marshfield and North Bend, respectively. Five Axemen qualified for the state meet held at Corvallis one week later—Terry Smit, Art Erwin, Carl Warner, Jim Newman and Randall Bradley. Only Terry was able to reach the semi-finals where he was eliminated.

SKI TEAM

Crash and Burn

Success in a big way marked this year's ski team. Coach Tom Means' varsity skiers capped a fine season, winning the state championship at the Dartmouth Cup Race, at Mt. Bachelor in March.

Depth was the key to success and the state crown. The second team captured the title with the first squad placing third. Co-captains Carl Laney and John Thompson along with Mike Alltucker, Pete Marsh, George McCully, Gary Papé, Paul Skillern and Ted Wood paced the skiers throughout the year. The state championship team was made up of Alltucker, John Anderson, Bill Eimstad, McCully and Thompson. Thompson was the individual winner of the Dartmouth Cup.

At the conclusion of the season, Thompson was named "Skier of the Evening" and Laney was given the Most Valuable Skier award.

VARSITY TRACK

Spikers with a Punch

For the second consecutive year, South dominated track and field in District 5-A-1. The Axemen won all but one dual meet and repeated as district champions. With aid of assistant coaches Harry Johnson and Loyd Amick, Head Coach Don Barnhart successfully led his senior-dominated team to a third place finish in the state meet.

South compiled 89 points to win the district at Springfield under cold, windy conditions. The Axemen relied on strength in the field events and middle distances to squeeze past runner-up Thurston and North Eugene. At the state meet, the trackmen gained 29 points to take third place. Bob Hanes tied for second in the pole vault and placed fourth in the long jump, while Jim Wathey and Co-captain Rich Carter took first and second in the shot put. Also qualifying for the state meet were milers Guy Renfro and Don Herrman, Hanes in the high jump, and Wathey and Carter in the discus.

Several school records were set: Herrman ran a 4:23.8 mile to break Renfro's earlier record and Hanes went 22' 8-3/4" in the long jump and tied his own pole vault record. In the weight events, Carter and Wathey duelled all season with Wathey finally taking records of 58' 1-1/2" in the shot and 160' 2-3/4" in the discus. Hanes was awarded the Dave Gilbert Trophy for excellence in track and field.

BASEBALL

Problem on the Mound

With only two starting pitchers, Coach Bob Kane had to call on inexperienced boys to carry out the hurling chores for the Axemen hardballers this year. This lack of pitching prowess coupled with errors at unfortunate times enabled the team to win only four games in league competition.

After compiling a 4-1 pre-season record, it looked as though the team might finish high in league standings. But the Axemen gained only one victory in the first seven games. The boys completed the season in strong fashion, however, winning three out of the last five games for an overall league record of four wins and eight losses.

Highpoint of the season was the 4-3 win over North Eugene in the third game of the season. In the fourth inning Steve Parker tripled and came home on a sacrifice fly by Bob Main. Co-Captain Jeff Brown singled and was driven home by Mike Johnson with another triple. North scored three runs in the next two innings, but the Axemen came from behind with Greg Fredricks scoring and pitcher Randy Snyder winning his own game by driving in the winning run with a double.

Several boys attained high honors during the season. Mike Johnson was named to the All-District First Team as third baseman. Jeff Brown was the leading hitter in the league with a .419 batting average, and was placed at first base on the All-District Second Team. Bob Main joined the All-District Second Team as shortstop.

GOLF

A Swinging Season

After a great start—winning its first six matches—South Eugene's golf team faltered and completed the season with a 17th place finish at the state meet. The Axemen set a torrid pace at the beginning of the year and twice broke the school record for a five-man total. Then they cooled off and fell to eighth place at the Upstate Meet, but came back to take the district title. At the state meet, however, Russel Geiseman's linksters placed 32nd after the first day of competition and could only move to 17th after fine play the second day. Leading the golfers were Captain Jud Guitteau, John Bishop, Mike Moore and Tony Baker.

South Eugene's tennis team lost only two matches during district play—both to league champion Roseburg—and went on to finish second in district and tie for fifth in state.

Coach Mike Rose's netters compiled their fine 11-2 overall record on the strength of play by Captain Paul Mackie, AFS student Peter Bossard, Whit Fellers and Lewis Weber. The squad, however, did not lack depth as shown by the JV's 7-0 victory over Thurston's varsity. The Axemen qualified three men for state: Bossard in singles, and the doubles team of Fellers-Weber which reached the semi-finals.

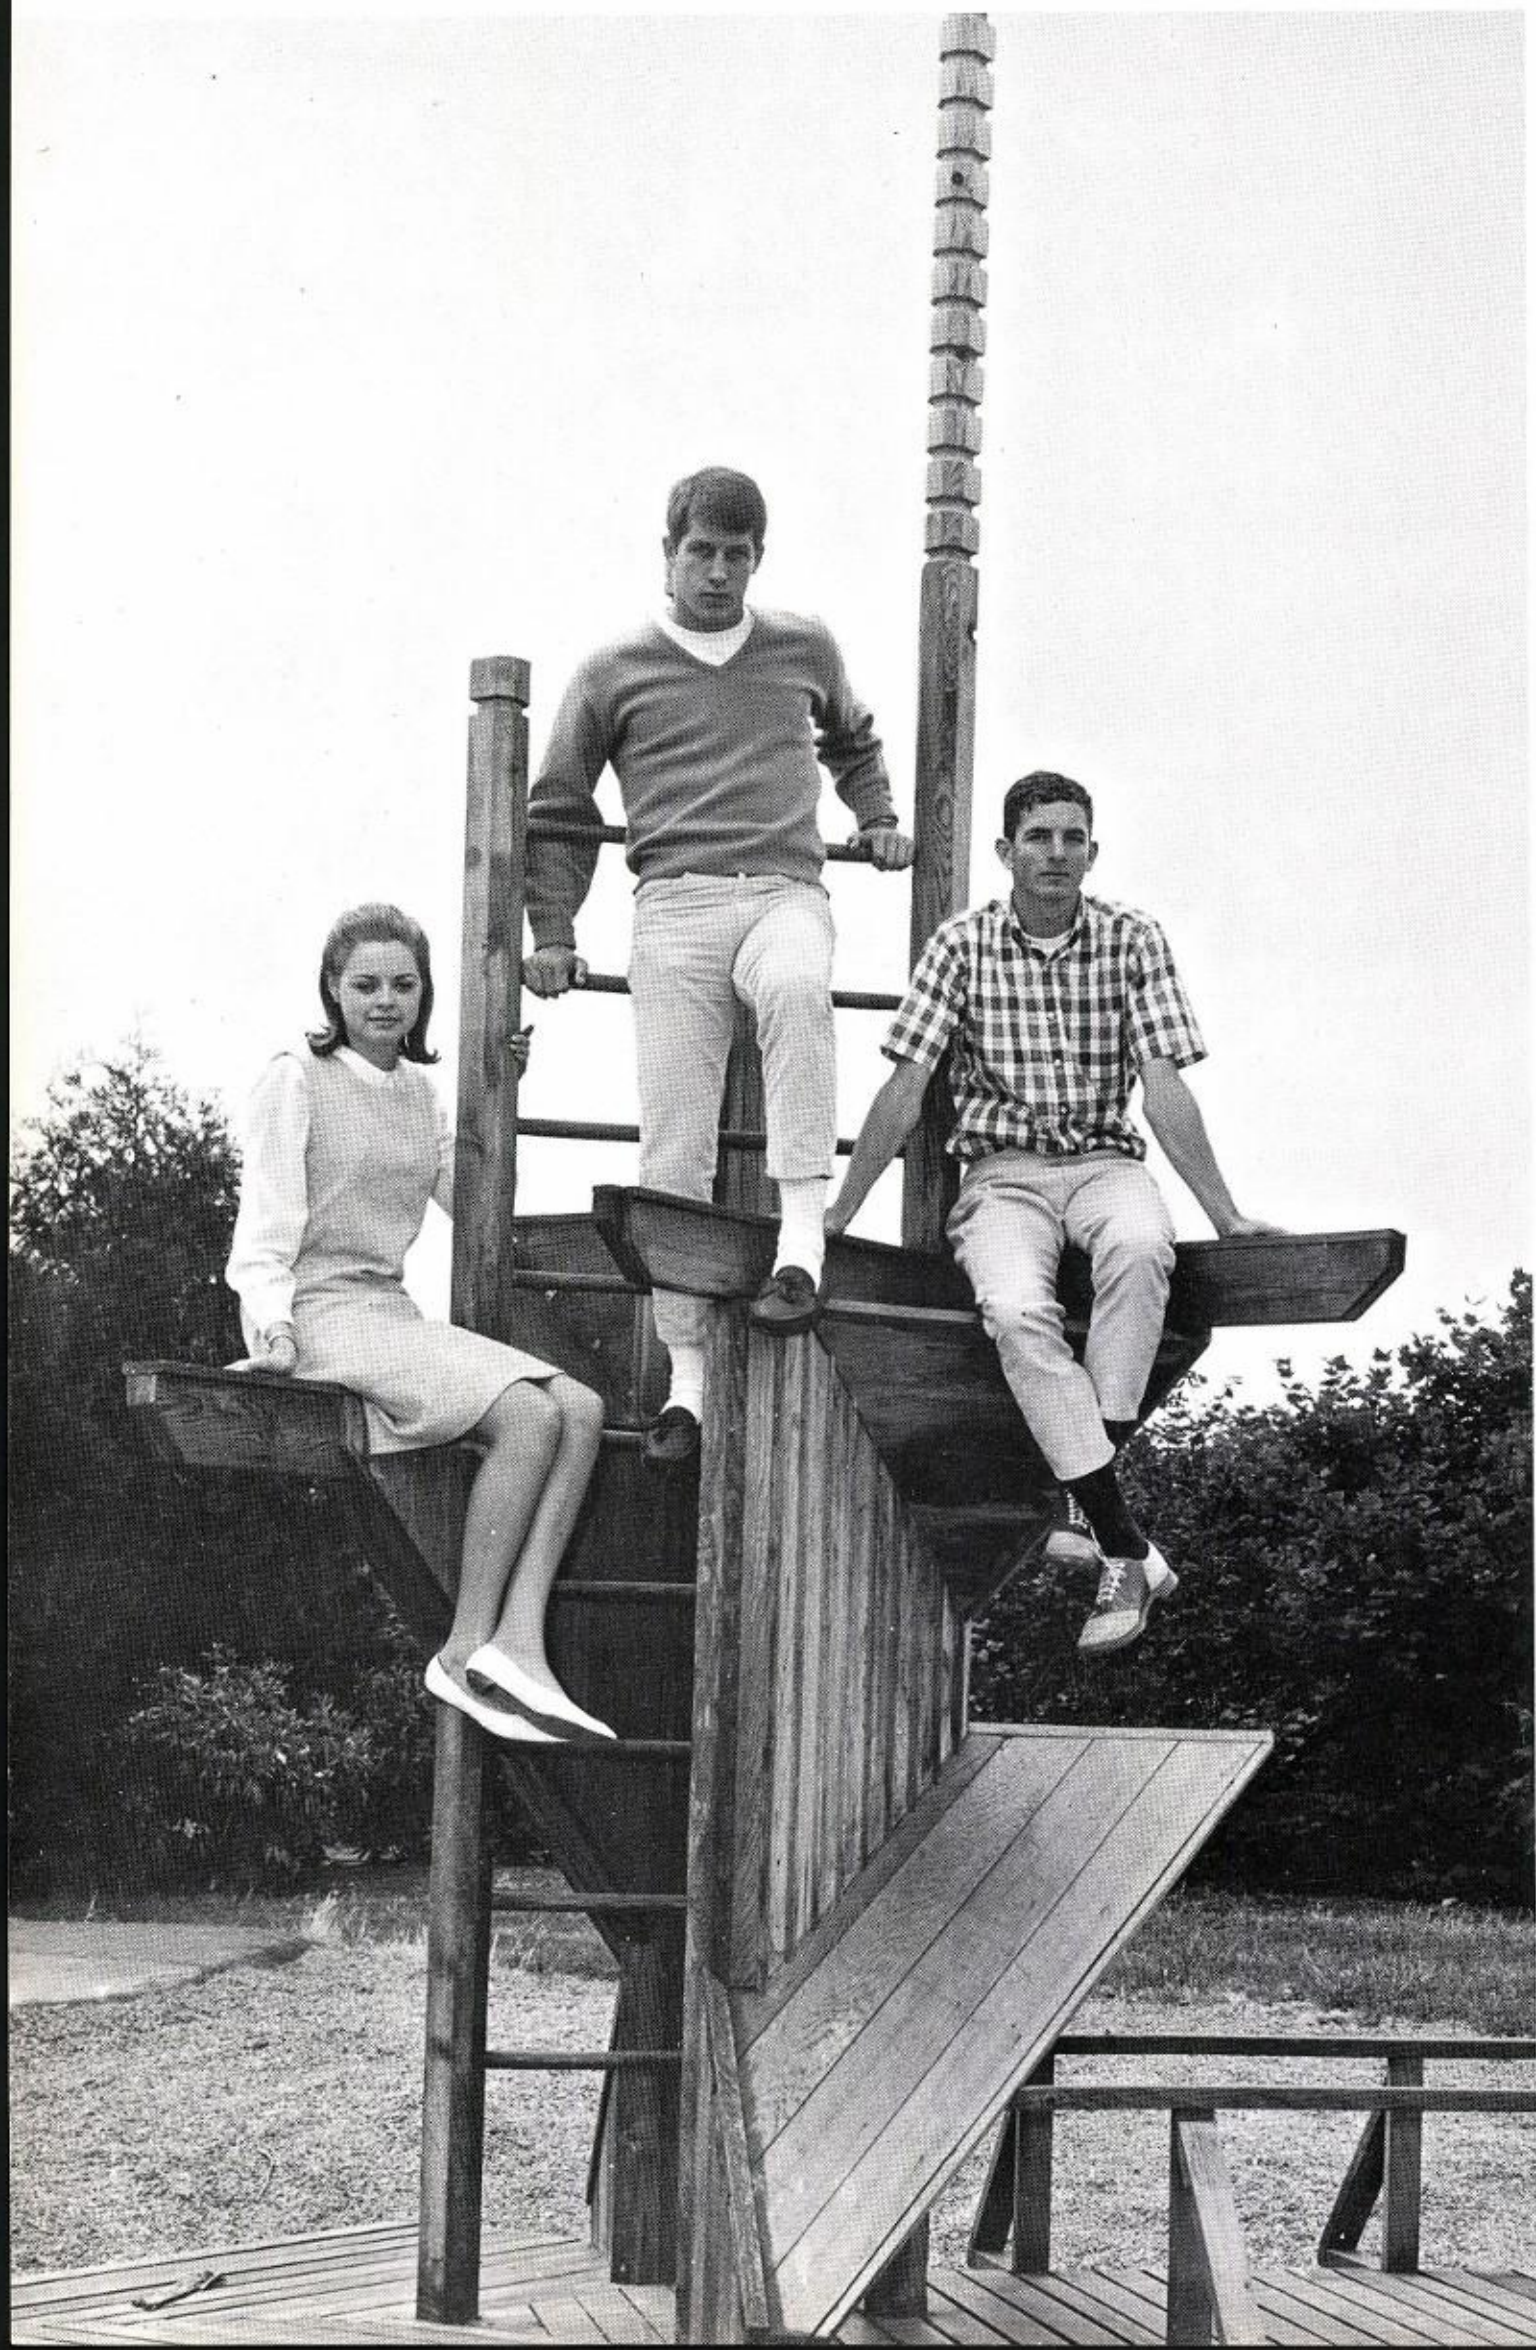
Classes

Top Brass



Seniors looked back on three wonderful years of memory makers: crisp fall football nights . . . controversial campaigns . . . locker room pep talks . . . the color of Print'n Cord week . . . Tuesday night science labs . . . the pressure of final exams.

Specific achievements included first place trophy for the class float in the Homecoming Parade and second place in the all-school Charity Drive. The class sponsored the "Off Beat" dance with a beatnik theme, complete with costumes ranging from black leather jackets to fake beards, and decorations created from tattered newspapers. During Print'n Cord Week, seniors won the class color day with 96 percent wearing yellow.

As the year came to a close, seniors were involved in long-awaited commencement activities. The class gift was a lectern for the auditorium and lights for the entry walk to the building. Baccalaureate, the senior breakfast, and the "Once a Year Day" assembly generated tremendous excitement. Singing the Alma Mater for the final time the evening of commencement, seniors felt deep nostalgia for their high school days, but eager anticipation for the new life ahead.

Once A Year Day!

Imaginative seniors put together another tremendous show for the entire student body. Called "Once a Year Day," signifying that great day when high school days are over, the program was highlighted by skits, dancing and singing. Other year-end events included baccalaureate, the annual senior breakfast, commencement, and the all-night party at the University of Oregon Student Union, held with North Eugene and Sheldon seniors.

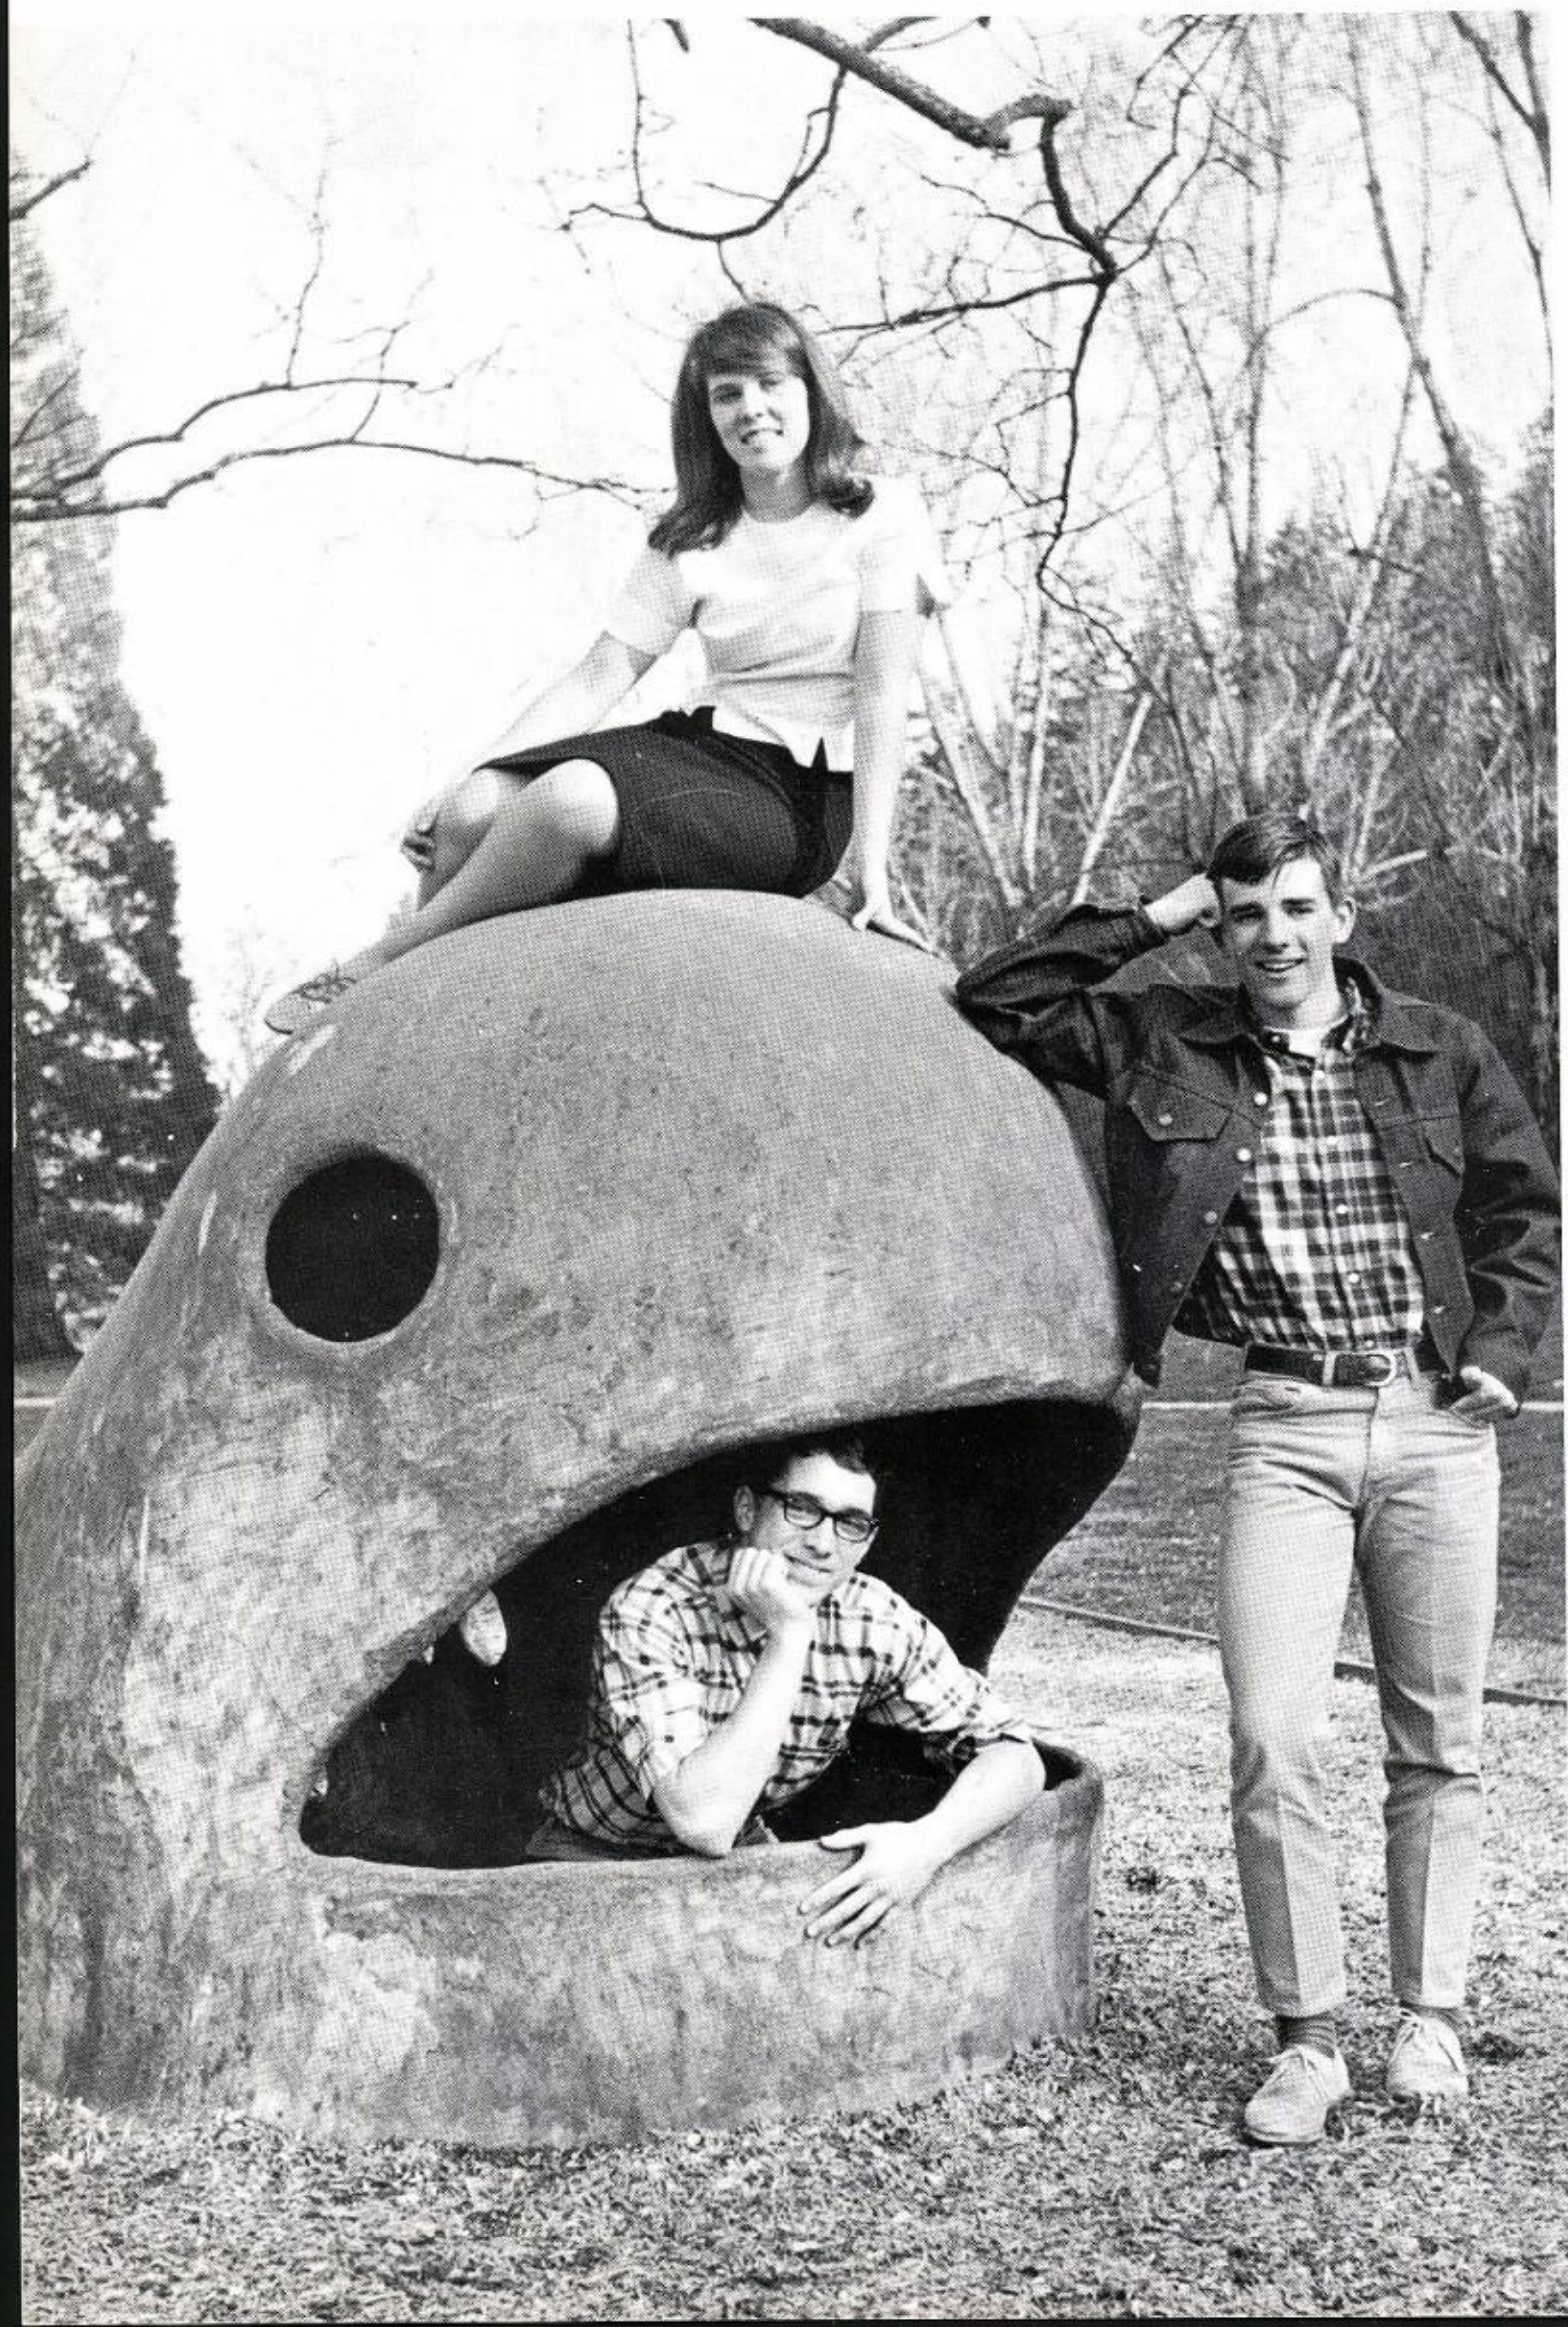
JUNIORS

Halfway Point



A Japanese teahouse surrounded by swinging pastel lanterns transformed the cafeteria into an Oriental garden for the annual Junior Prom—biggest event of the year. Innumerable hours by industrious juniors produced "Sakura No Koi," or "Cherry Blossom Love," to enhance the evening of April 30 with a far east atmosphere.

Under the guidance of advisers Mrs. Sevilla Berreman and Edgar Goodnough, the juniors were involved in almost every activity at South. From standing committees to rally squads, juniors contributed time and talents to the smooth running year. The class sponsored a rally dance, entered a float in the Homecoming parade, worked on the all-school Charity Drive, and were involved in all sports activities. In December, the junior girls won the prize for the best doll display at the annual Doernbecher Tea.

Winding up a successful year, juniors served at the senior breakfast and ushered at commencement.

"Life without pain, disappointment or sorrow would be barren and unfulfilled . . . Man must have a variety of good and bad experiences to be a completely fulfilled person."

So Lynn Suzanne Buss ironically wrote in an English essay shortly before her tragic death on Oct. 21, 1965. Lynn was killed in a car accident, which injured several of her classmates. Her death was deeply felt by all those who loved her warm smile and cheery "Hi!"

Active was the word to describe the popular and pretty brunette. As Principal Clifford Moffitt expressed it, "She was the kind of spirited, quick grasping girl this school depends upon." Her contributions to South Eugene included vice-president of Hatchettes, Y Teens president and IRL and French clubs in her sophomore year. As a junior, she was secretary of the junior class and a member of the junior varsity rally squad.

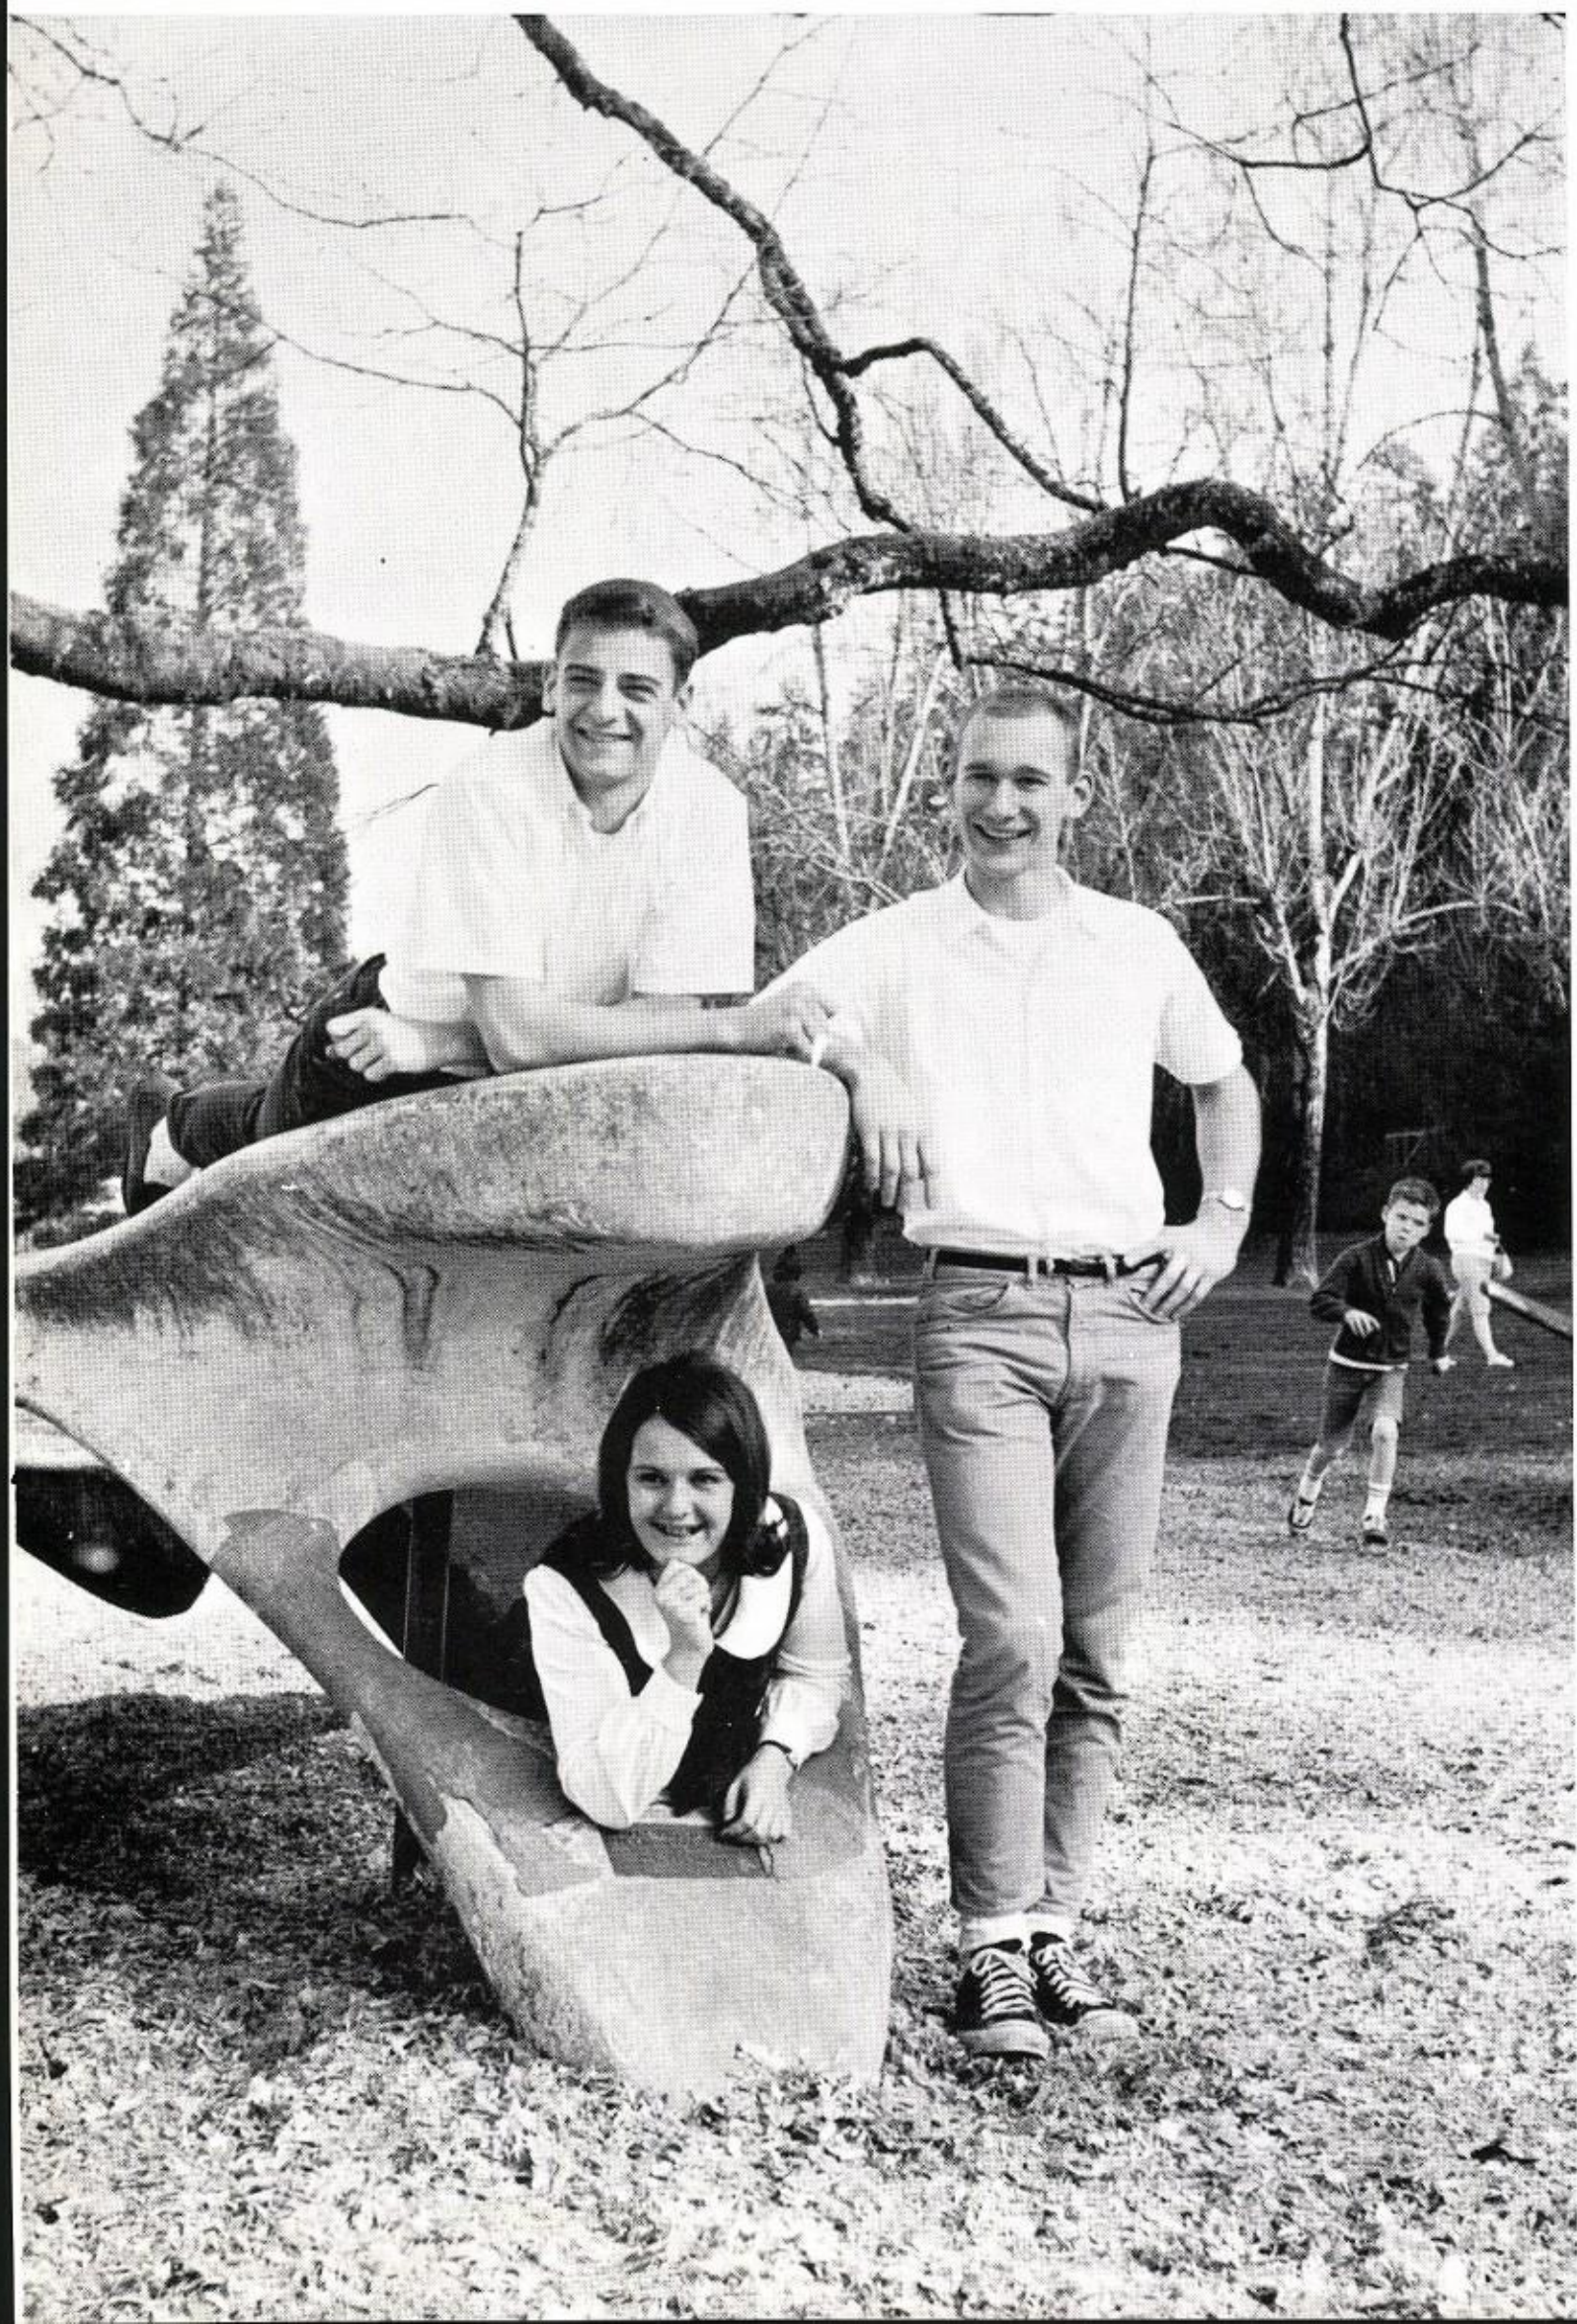
SOPHOMORES

Starting to Climb



Anxious to begin their first year of high school, 627 sophomores invaded the halls of South Eugene in early September. Helping them become acquainted with Axemen traditions were the annual "Big-Little Sister Picnic" and "Hello Week."

With the assistance of advisers Mrs. Jacqueline Bonner, Lawrence Rehfeld and Lyle Small, sophomores worked industriously on the Homecoming parade, and won the all-school Charity Drive with a total of $948.87. At the end of the first semester, those achieving a 3.00 GPA or better were invited to the annual National Honor Society-sponsored "Smarty Party." The sophomore pep club, "Hatchettes," was disbanded after many years of cheering the Baby Axemen on to victory. Despite this loss of spirit, the sophomore football team ended its season undefeated, and the sophomore hoopsters compiled an even win-loss record.

History teacher Merlyn Gubser cracks bat for base hit during sophomore-faculty baseball game. The teachers won 11-5. The game was held during the 80-minute lunch period, awarded to the sophomores as Charity Drive winners.

All for Charity

Profits from ice-cold fruit flavored sno-cones and fluffy hot puffs of popcorn won the sophomores first place in the 1966 all-school Charity Drive in March, earning $948.87, a feat never before accomplished by the baby Axemen. As a reward for their efforts, the sophomores received an 80-minute lunch period one day in May. Big event of the balmy afternoon was the sophomore-faculty baseball game.

Seniors and juniors also worked diligently, with the two classes collecting $786.29 and $682.92 respectively. Under the direction of general chairman Mark Lutz, the Charity Drive totaled $2,417.28 during the two weeks in March. The money was divided among three funds with the Eugene Children's Hospital receiving 50 percent, Pearl Buck school 25 percent and Russell Hendricks, a former South Eugene teacher recovering from neurosurgery, 25 percent.

Dear Reader:

The typewriters have at last stopped clattering and the final pages are ready to be mailed, marking the end of the 1966 Eugenean's production. Our experience is over; what hopefully remains is your enjoyment.

Beginning the year, we faced a problem of epic proportions—transmuting the four dimensions of life at South Eugene into two-dimensional paper and ink. Our idealization of this task, however, did not hold up against reality. Continually meeting frustrations, along with successes, our initial concepts and aspirations were forced to be repeatedly compromised. Eventually the creation we had vaguely envisioned took shape, but in a manner much different than expected. Even our best laid plans seldom developed quite as we had hoped.

More than simply recording in an historical manner the procession of events, we attempted to re-create the atmosphere that made this year completely unlike any other. Blank paper and unexposed film has been filled with the spirit that pervaded South and in this book that spirit is preserved so that we may not forget . . .

All of us became inextricably involved in our work and, in this respect, the book is already a success. If our own personal preoccupation with the ideas and emotions we tried to express is any measure of the worth of the 1966 Eugenean, then you will always remember this year. We may feel some regret for our not infrequent inadequacies, but all of us are pleased with these pages and are sure you will be also.

John + Phil

Life's greatest reward is friendships, and that is what I have found with you. The great fun we had and the chances we had to share problems have really helped my outlook on life. John, you may have still some doubts as what you will do in life, but I can tell you are a natural born conscientious person that I could trust to the ends of time. Phil, you are a fine structure person that could make one of the best teachers in any school system simply because you care so much about other people and life in general. We truly had some fine experiences in the past at South and outside, but keep looking to the future and you are both sure to succeed. The true key to life is to have good friends and not let anything really bother you. The best of luck to you always.

Until Norway

Gary Lucile

Phil:

I can't WRITE SOMETHING ON THE BACK OF THIS THING AND SAY ALL I WANNA SAY & SHOULD SAY IN A SUMMARY - HERE'S THE WAY I feel ... A FRIEND. Someone BUT I loan ME NOTES, ETC. NOTES, FINISHED PAPERS who'd MATH NOTEBOOKS, ETC. Someone who'd Sacrifice hours worth of their own TIME TO & HELP ME. Someone who I could talk learn things when you talk with those that are SMARTER THAN YOURSELF), someone who could SNAP ME OUT OF MOODY, FEELINGS, DEPRESSIONS, respect my convictions, & most of all SHARE COMPANIONSHIP & FRIENDSHIP.

good friend of MINE, 'cause you'd MAKE a HELL OF AN ENEMY. Girls & fair weather friends will always STAND go but your true - BLUE buddies will always STAND up to be COUNTED - LIKE YOU.

THE surface ON what your friendship has done for me IN High School. I probably NEVER will be able to fully describe IT, but ITS sure done more for me than anything ELSE.

I'M NOT even scratching for a long TIME to come I know we'll be friends TAKES US. NO MATTER WHERE LIFE

Your Pal,
DAVE
Carmichael

Best wishes and lots of luck in the future.
